CARROLL JURY ASKED ARREST OF WIDOW OF JOSHUA B. CRAWFORD

Attorney for Crawford Heirs Submits Report That Coroner's Jury Declared Crawford "Died Morphine Poisoning"

MRS. CRAWFORD'S ATTY. LAUGHS AT INSINUATIONS

Efforts Probably Will Be Made to Test Legality of Inquest Held in Carroll Over Atlanta Man's Body

Another sensation in the famous Crawford will case developed Friday morning, when Attorney Joseph S. James, representing the so-called Crawford heirs, filed with the auditor a verdict of a Carroll county coroner's jury recommending that Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford be held for the death of Joshua B. Crawford in 1909.

It seems that when Dr. H. F. Harris, of the state board of health, went to Carrollton during the latter part of June of this year to exhume the body of the man over whose $250,000 estate so many people are fighting in the courts, that Judge Beall, of the Carrollton city court, ordered a coroner's inquest.

Following the examination of the corpse by a physician, a jury was empanelled by the Carroll county coroner and an inquest held.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that Joshua B. Crawford came to his death through morphine poisoning, and the jury recommended that the Fulton county authorities hold Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford, the widow, for the crime.

The announcement that a coroner's jury had held an inquest in Carroll county over the body of the pioneer, who died in Fulton, but who was buried there, was as complete a surprise to the attorneys for Mrs. Crawford as was the announcement last Wednesday that Dr. Harris had exhumed the body four years after death and found traces of morphine.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED.

It is understood that the legality of the inquest in Carroll county over the body of the man who died in Fulton and who was buried after death certificates by physicians had been duly signed and the law complied with in every respect, will be questioned, it is said.

No move has been made by the Fulton authorities to accuse Mrs. Crawford of any crime, and owing to the fact that several physicians certify that Crawford came to his death through an attack of pneumonia, it is not considered probable that any criminal action will be instituted.

Attorney Burton Smith, who represents the widow and chief beneficiary under the will of Joshua B. Crawford, treated lightly the coroner's inquest and its finding, and left the court room laughing before the paper had been read.

The Crawford will case has been on trial for two months before an auditor, and the hearing may last a few months longer. At least the end is not in sight.

ATTACKS VALIDITY OF MARRIAGE.

After the filing of the coroner's verdict Friday morning, the attorneys for the Crawford heirs commenced introducing witnesses and depositions attacking the validity of Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford's marriage to the deceased.

The Crawford will case has been the subject of litigation practically since the death of Joshua B. Crawford, who left a young widow and a host of relatives who claim part of his estate.

Bill Would Make Young Lochinvars Advertise the Event

Runaway marriages of contracting couples yet in their teens will be made rather difficult if the bill introduced in the house Friday morning by Mr. Cheney, of Cobb, meets with the approval of the members.

This rather unique piece of proposed legislation would require all couples not over eighteen years of age to not only apply to ordinary for their license at least one week in advance of the nuptials, but to also publish at the same time their intention of taking the matrimonial vows in the gazette published in the county in which the license is asked.

FORT M'PHERSON SOLDIERS GETTING A SAMPLE OF WAR-TIME WORK

FOR several weeks during the summer the officers at Fort McPherson have been putting the men through field practice, which takes them across fields and swamps under the hot sun and gives them a sample of what they would do in a real warfare.

They have been drilled in outpost and reconnaisance, individual cooking, construction of entrenchments, occupying defensive positions, attack and defense of positions, advance and rear guard, convoys of trains, etc.

Toward the latter part of the month the whole regiment of several hundred men will be given field practice, and later they will have some exercises at night.

The man in the lower right-hand corner is Capt. R. D. Carter, directing practice.

People living in the neighborhood of the fort have been frequently startled of late by a fusillade of rifle shots, when the maneuvers of the regulars have brought them in close proximity to their homes. Peering from their windows many a citizen has observed a line of rifle barrels tilted at a dangerous angle from the nearby bushes. Presently a squad of soldiers approaches from another direction and a skirmish follows. When the smoke clears away there are no casualties, however, and only the officers in charge know where the victory lies.

TARIFF DEBATE HOLDS SEN. SMITH IN CAPITAL

Expects to Reach Atlanta on Next Thursday—Will Address Assembly

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Senator Hoke Smith has deferred his trip to Atlanta until next week. He expects to leave Washington next Thursday after the tariff debate is under way in the senate, and unless unforseen developments arise, he hopes to spend three or four days in Atlanta.

The senator will accept the invitation of the legislature to address a joint session of the two houses, and will give an account of his stewardship of the senatorship.

When asked if he had any comment to make of Congressman Bell's card concerning the Gainesville postoffice, Senator Smith declared that he had not seen the statement and might have something to say after reading it.

Awarded $10,000 for Death of Hog, Owner Asks Another $10,000

The sad case of Premier Longfellow's Rival, the story of the death of a $10,000 hog, is before the courts again.

Friday attorneys for the Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific Railroad company made a motion before Judge George L. Bell, of the superior court, for a new trial of J. B. D. DeBow's suit for damages for the death of Premier Longfellow's Rival.

In June, 1911, a jury in the superior court awarded Mr. DeBow $10,000 damages because of the death of the pig.

Although Mr. DeBow sued for $20,000, alleging that the hog in question was almost priceless, having won hundreds of blue ribbons at fairs all over the country, and got only half of that amount, the railroad is not satisfied with the jury's valuation of the hog and a new trial is asked.

Premier Longfellow's rival met his death on November 8, 1909. He was being transported from Montgomery to Shreveport, La., where a bi afair at which he expected to add a few more ribbons to his long list of winnings was in progress, when death stopped his glorious company.

He got as far as Meridian, Miss., on the lines of the defendant company, when, it is charged, a careless engineer, while switching Premier Longfellow's private palace car, bumped it too hard. The result was that Premier Longfellow, who weighed 1,000 pounds, got such a jar that he sickened and died a month later, despite the fact that he was tended by famed veterinary surgeons from all over the country.

Judge Bell, after hearing the arguments of counsel, has reserved his decision about a new trial until October 1.

Stronghold That Bulgars Have Held Since Turkish War, Falls—Rumania Wants Finger in Pie, and Says So

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 11.—Greeks troops today occupied Demir-Hissar, thirteen miles northeast of Seres, after a brilliant victory over the Bulgarians who had been in possession since they won it from the Turks in the recent war, according to an Exchange Telegraph company's dispatch from Athens. The Bulgarians fled, abandoning their field guns, ammunition and provisions.

A telegram to the same agency from Constantinople says it is announced by the newspapers that Midia, the town on the Black sea, which was to form the eastern end of the future frontier line between Bulgaria and Turkey, is in flames.

SENATE READY NOW TO ACT ON TARIFF; MANY CHANGES MADE

However, Bill as It Goes to Senate, Retains Principal Provisions of House Measure Advocated by Mr. Wilson

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The senate may now proceed to dispose of the original business for which President Wilson called the extra session of congress—revision of the tariff.

Today—three months and four days after the special session began—Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, was authorized to report the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill. The measure was passed upon in committee by a strict party vote, Republicans voting against it.

As it gets to the senate, the bill retains the principal provisions of the house measure and those particularly advocated by President Wilson, free raw wool and a provision that sugar shall be free May 1, 1916. The finance committee majority and the caucus have greatly extended the free list and reduced many rates, notably in the metal, wool and agricultural schedules. Sweeping changes, however, have been made in the administrative features and the income tax.

Cattle and wheat now are on the free list, the latter with a countervailing duty.

It is a much lower rate tariff bill than the house bill by nearly 10 per cent, the senate finance committee majority and the caucus having greatly extended the already liberal free list and reduced many rates, notably in the metal, wool and agricultural schedules.

PASSED HOUSE MAY 8.

The Underwood bill passed the house May 8, and for two months it has been under careful scrutiny by the finance committee majority, which made many changes and finally by the caucus, which deliberated on the measure for

Militants Start Panic in House By Explosion of Tiny Toy Pistol

They Poke Fun at "Cat and Mouse" Law; Shake House With Yells and Drop Toy Mouse Traps

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 11.—The report of a pistol fired from the strangers' gallery in the house of commons today, accompanied by a yell of "Justice for women!" caused panic among members in session.

Simultaneously with the report a shower of pamphlets rained down on the members. They bore the printed words, "Votes for women."

Two persons, pointed out as perpetrators of the outrage, were hustled from the gallery and detained pending investigation. It was discovered later that the weapon merely was a toy pistol.

Toy mouse traps satirizing the "cat and mouse" act were thrown from the gallery.

King George Greeted by Window-Smashing Demonstration

(By Associated Press.)

LIVERPOOL, July 11.—Militant suffragettes started a window-smashing demonstration during King George's visit here today. Armed with pokers, squads of women shattered several large windows along the route of the parade, but the police rounded them up and order was restored before the king's arrival.

"Coal King's" Daughter Fined For Firing Public Mail Box

(By Associated Press.)

NEWPORT, England, July 11.—A fine of $50 or one month's imprisonment was inflicted today on Mrs. Margaret Haigh Mackworth, daughter of the "coal king," David A. Thomas, for setting fire to a public mail box.

Mrs. Mackworth elected to go to jail. Her husband is Capt. Humphrey Mackworth, of the Monmouthshire engineers, eldest son of Sir Arthur Mackworth and heir to the baronetcy.

Say "Bomb Explosion" Was Really Child's Joke

(By Associated Press.)

DUBLIN, July 11.—A Dublin evening newspaper publishes a sensational story to the effect that a bomb containing a parcel of suffragette literature, addressed to "William Redmond, House of Commons," exploded in the sorting department of the postoffice. The postal officials say there was merely a detonation of a child's toy in the post, not even reported to the police.

LONDON, July 11.—A Dublin dispatch to a London news agency says that according to the policemen on duty at the general postoffice, the only foundation for the report of the bomb explosion was a "joke of a jack-in-the-box type."

RECEIVER WANTED FOR ATLANTA INSURANCE CO.

Bills Filed in Court Against American Life and Annuity Company

Two suits, one for a receiver and the other to halt the payment of interest on income certificates, were filed in the superior court Friday morning against the American Life and Annuity company, a local life insurance concern doing business on the mutual assessment plan.

The suits, which were filed by Attorneys Jones & Chambers, declare that while the company in the three years of its existence has taken in $441,000 on the sale of income certificates alone, and has had other sources of revenue, its assets now amount to less than $135,000.

In the suit for a receiver, in which the plaintiffs are N. G. Parker, holder of five certificates, and Horace Standiford, holder of one and one-half certificates, of a par value of $100 each, it is alleged that the assets of the company have been dissipated, and that a receiver is necessary to preserve what is left of its holdings.

There are said to be 600 policy holders in the company, and one of them, T. K. Bowles, is the plaintiff in the injunction suit. In this suit it is set forth that the officers and directors threaten to pay $12,000 interest on income certificate on July 15. He alleges that the company has no funds available for this purpose, and that it will jeopardize the rights of the policy holders if the interest is paid them. In addition to the interest due on the 15th, it is alleged that the company is liable for a $6,000 contested death claim and $6,100 deferred annuity payments.

Judge W. D. Ellis issued an order temporarily restraining the officers of the company from paying the interest on the income certificates and set the case for a hearing on July 14.

On the receivership suit the defendant company is ordered to show cause on July 14 why a receiver should not be appointed.

Attached to both suits are specimens of the income certificates calling for the payment of 8 per cent interest semi-annually.

While the suits marked the first legal action against the company, it is known that the insurance commissioner, General William A. Wright, has been making an exhaustive examination of the company's books.

The local offices of the American Life and Annuity company are at 300 Forsyth building. The general manager is W. R. Taylor.

CHILD OF 16 LURES EVEN YOUNGER GIRL, CONFESSION STATES

Vice Net Continues to Close Around Atlanta "Hotels" and Lodging Houses – Several New Arrests Are Made

HOTEL KEEPER IS FINED; FOUR MEN UNDER ARREST

It's Unraveling Like a Ball of Twine, Says Chief Beavers. "Whole Truth Coming to Light," He Declares

Atlanta's police war on vice took on a more significant aspect Friday with several new arrests in the two investigations ramifying from the arrest of two girls, Chief Beavers was gratified by the success already achieved and by the promise of further success in running down all the phases revealed by the admission of these two girls—Hattie Smith, arrested the other day, and Dora Rothstein, arrested Thursday afternoon. Every person involved by their confessions and by the admissions of others arrested upon those confessions had been arrested or has been named and is being trailed by the city police force. One of the men arrested and one of the women arrested turned state's evidence and involved others with themselves.

The Rothstein girl's arrest, Thursday afternoon, revealed conditions similar to those following upon the Smith girl's arrest, and resulted immediately in the detention of a sixteen or seventeen-year-old girl, who claims to be a married woman. She is held on the serious charge of having induced the fourteen-year-old Rothstein girl into following her into evil ways. Bond of $1,000 was assessed against her.

"Mrs." Corinne Wilson is the name of the elder girl, who is to face the more serious charge. She gave her address as 234 Highland avenue. Dora Rothstein, aged fourteen, is the name of her confessing novitiate. A. C. Dollar, a shoemaker, resident at 63 Davis street, is held on a disorderly conduct charge. W. W. Suttles, 83 East Fair street, assistant night yardmaster of the N., C. & S. L. railway, is docketed on the police blotter, "Hold for warrant;" and the police declare that a warrant on which no name appears, sworn out in the court of Justice of the Peace Girardeau by the father of the Rothstein girl, 17 Broyles street, charging kidnapping, is to be sworn out against Suttles.

According to the police, the admissions of the Rothstein girl reveal another story of vicious influence and evil associates. She confesses, they say, that she left her home last Monday evening to go to Grant park, and that there she met, by accident, the Wilson girl, who sought her acquaintance and lured her with stories of underworld life. Her further admissions relate, they say, to her conduct thereafter under the guidance of the Wilson girl.

FATHER SWEARS WARRANT.

On Thursday her father, who had been conducting a quiet search for his missing daughter, notified the police of her disappearance and asked their aid. Shortly afterward Officers Green and McKibben arrested her with the Wilson girl as the two of them emerged from a moving picture theater on Whitehall street. Mr. Rothstein, upon a description given by his penitent daughter at police headquarters, swore out the blank warrant in Justice Girardeau's court, and the search was begun for that man, W. W. Suttles being arrested early Friday morning. Dollar was arrested Thursday night. Dora Rothstein was confined in the juvenile ward at headquarters during the trial.

Hattie Smith, the girl whose home is on Marietta street and whose admissions to the police several days ago led them to a stricter surveillance of the downtown hotels, was taken from home to detective headquarters Friday morning for further questioning upon details which the police believe may lead to yet more arrests in her case.

(OTHER ARRESTS MADE).

Three other arrests in the campaign against vice were made by Patrolmen Laster and Turner at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning in the Madison hotel, Madison avenue and West Hunter street. "Mrs." Lizzie Koenig, the proprietress of the hotel, was bound over by Re-

AMERICUS RESIDENTS POISONED BY MELONS

City Physician Orders Examination of Suspected Fruit by State Chemist

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

AMERICUS, Ga., July 11.—Americus authorities are aroused today over the fact that several prominent citizens have been poisoned to the point of desperate illness by eating watermelons shipped here from southwest Georgia. A rigid investigation has been begun, and one of the suspected melons has been sent to the state chemist for examination.

City Physician Chambliss declared today that it was his opinion that the sickness was traceable in each instance to eating watermelons. An investigation developed that all the melons causing poisoning came from the same car—a car recently shipped here from southwest Georgia.

Dr. Chambliss' investigation was sufficient to stop the sale of melons from this car, and the consignment is being held in the yards here, pending the report of the state chemist.

None of the persons poisoned, however, are in danger of death.

Young Mental Genii Bigger Dangers Than Idiots, Says Physician

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Children of exceptional mental brilliancy are even greater dangers to society than those defective or abnormally stupid. This is the conclusion of Dr. Maximillian P. E. Grossemann, of the United States bureau of education, in a report made public today. The educational expert based his statement on the comprehensive study made in the schools of the United States.

"It is often the exceptionally bright child, or even the genius, whom we find on the wrong side," said Dr. Grossemann. "The stupid and weak-minded criminal is not so dangerous as the clever and intellectual criminal."

As a remedy for the uplift of misguided juveniles, the scientist advocates united effort on the part of educators, medical men, social workers, the charity organizations, welfare societies, juvenile courts and other agencies. He declares that all of the organizations are doing commendable work in this connection, but that joint action is necessary. He also advocates legislation giving the community the right to direct the educational training of every child.

STORM AND 'QUAKES ROCK ITALY AS NATION SHIVERS ON COLDEST JULY DAY IN SIX HUNDRED YEARS

Country People Terror-Stricken by Rumblings of Earth and Hurricanes—Big Crop Damage—Old Vesuvius Again Spouts Smoke and Ashes, Covering Villages Along Gulf of Turin

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, July 11.—A terrific storm is raging throughout Italy. In many places the country has been devastated and the crops destroyed. It is accompanied by remarkably cold weather for the season. Officially, the temperature in Rome at noon today fell below 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Such weather in the middle of July has not been recorded in Italy since the year 1312.

Mud and Ashes From Vesuvius Cover Gulf Coast Villas

NAPLES, July 11.—Extraordinary fall of rain and hail have flooded the surrounding country for the past two days. Torrents of water mixed with mud and ashes from Vesuvius have inundated villages along the Gulf of Turin. Owing to a strong cold wind from the north, accompanied by hurricanes, the temperature fell today almost to freezing point. Snow is reported to have fallen in the Alps.

Floods Drive People From Huts Near Messina Straits

MESSINA, July 11.—A violent tempest near the Straits of Messina, accompanied by heavy rainfall, has caused enormous damage in this region. Crops have been destroyed. Floods have compelled the people to leave huts in which they have been living since the earthquake of a few years ago.

Peasants Terror-Stricken By Earthquakes and Storms

COSENA, Italy, July 11.—Hurricanes accompanied by slight earthquake shocks and underground rumblings have terrified peasants in this region for two days. This is especially the case in the isolated villages where the people have not recovered from the fright caused by the earthquake which occurred at the end of June.

Pope's Physicians Warn Him Against Going Outdoors

ROME, July 11.—The pope's physicians today discouraged him from taking his usual drive and walk in the vatican gardens, owing to the violence of the storm and the heavy rain. His holiness continues perfectly well. The exceptionally cool weather helps to keep him in good health.

The pontiff is deeply concerned about the Balkan situation. He expressed regret today that both Bulgaria and Rumania, the two most advanced of the Balkan nations, should engage in a fratricidal war.

Boston Doctor Sees Small King Snake Kill Huge Moccasin

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BOSTON, Ga., July 11.—Dr. J. E. Watkins stated here yesterday that he was the witness of a battle between a very small king snake and a huge moccasin, in which the king snake caught, fought and killed the larger snake.

Dr. Watkins stated that when on his way to a patient near here, his attention was attracted to a small dust being raised in the sandy road several hundred yards ahead of his automobile.

When he reached the place he noticed the doctor states, that the king snake had just caught the moccasin and was fighting unmindful of car or man. Within a few minutes the moccasin was dead and the little king snake fled to the bushes.

Grabs His Job When Rival Goes to Lunch

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—Although J. H. Johnson refused to vacate the postoffice at Brantley for his successor, William Horn, when commanded to do so by the postoffice department, Horn slipped in while Johnson was at dinner this week and is now in peaceful possession.

Johnson, a Republican, held the office under the last administration. Horn was appointed by President Wilson recently, and Johnson ordered to turn over the office on July 1. Johnson managed to hold on until after the first of the month, and then refused to quit because the office was under the civil service.

The question to be settled now is whether or not Johnson can regain possession. Republicans in Montgomery say Johnson has made no effort to establish his claim.

Soon to Sell Cranes Used on Panama Canal

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Indicative of the approach of the Panama canal opening is the notice today by the canal commission that the giant steel cranes used in placing the 2,500 cubic yards of concrete in the great locks are soon to be offered for sale. The locks now are practically completed, and the small quantity of concrete to be placed is to go into corners beyond the reach of the cranes.

BIG INCREASE IN COTTON EXPORTS TO PHILIPPINES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Increased imports into the Philippines in the ten months ended April last, peculiarly re*sulted in reducing the customs receipts* of the insular government. This is explained in figures received today by the insular affairs bureau of the war department, by the fact that the increase was in exports from Aemirca, which enter free of duty, and was at the expense of foreign exporters' trade.

While the increase in American imports was greatest in wheat flour, the imports in southern cotton cloths grew from 51 to 70 per cent. Altogether the imports from the United States were valued at $30,000,000, compared with $16,500,000 during the corresponding period of last year. At the same time, the export trade of the islands showed a large increase, being approximately $2,500,000 greater for the ten months than for the ten months in the preceding year.

Crash Averted When Driver Steers Auto in Front of Moving Train

AMERICUS, Ga., July 11.—An automobile filled with young people returning from a dance late last night collided with a shifting engine of the Seaboard railway at the Jackson street crossing here. Chauffeur Cordele, with remarkable presence of mind, turned the auto in the direction the locomotive was moving slowly, thus avoiding more serious consequences. The auto bumped on the cross ties in front of the locomotive some distance before the train stopped. None of the occupants were injured.

DON'T STOP EATING OR WORKING WHEN YOUR LIVER GOES WRONG

Take Dodson's Liver Tone and Go About Your Work. It Will Liven Up Your Liver Without Harm

A bilious attack or constipation can be relieved in a short while by a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone—the mild vegetable remedy that every druggist guarantees.

Just ask your druggist about Dodson's Liver Tone—he probably takes it himself when he is not feeling just right. He knows that it is a harmless preparation that starts the liver without violence and puts you into shape without interfeing with your habits.

Dodson's Liver Tone is for both grown-ups and children. It has a pleasant taste, and is safe and reliable. The price is 50 cents for a large bottle and your money back if you tell the druggist it hasn't been a benefit to you.

Don't take calomel and don't buy imitations of Dodson's Liver Tone—you may run into danger if you do.

Buy Dodson's—the medicine that every druggist recommends and guarantees.—Advt.)

AGENT CLAIMS CONLEY CONFESSED TO MURDER

Detectives Deny That Mincey Told Them of Alleged Confession of Negro

In the possession of the attorneys for the defense of Leo M. Frank is an affidavit of William H. Mincey, formerly an insurance agent working in Atlanta, who declares that the negro, James Conley, while drunk on the afternoon of April 26, admitted and even boasted to him that he had killed a girl that day.

The admission is alleged by Mincey's affidavit to have been made when he met Conley, whom he knew, in the negro quarter, and attempted to sell him insurance.

The negro became enraged, the affidavit recites, and told him (Mincey) that he (Conley) didn't want to have to kill another person that day, as he had already killed a little girl.

The affidavit is said to further recite that Mincey offered, a day or two after the killing of Mary Phagan, his information to the city police, who refused to consider it. The affidavit is also said to recite that Mincey visited Conley at police headquarters and there again definitely identified him as the man who boasted on April 26 of having killed the girl.

N. A. Lanford, chief of the city detectives, and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, who has been working on the case, declare that they first heard of Mincey on the day of Conley's second confession of complicity.

Mincey, Scott says, came to headquarters while he and Chief Lanford were examining Conley in the chief's office, and after some time was allowed to see the negro.

Mincey told them, Scott says, that he wanted to see if he could identify Conley as a negro he saw drunk on the porch of a house at Electric avenue and Carter street between 3 and 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the 26th.

"I don't know that he is the same negro," Scott quotes Mincey as saying when he looked at Conley.

Mincey asked Conley several questions about his (Mincey's) effort to sell him insurance on the Saturday in question, and Conley told him that he had never seen him before, Scott asserts.

Mincey, according to the Pinkerton, made no reference to any confession of the killing. All he said, in fact, the detectives says, was that Conley was drunk on the porch of the house and that he (Mincey) tried to sell him insurance.

Mincey laimed to have made an effort to sell Conley insurance between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Scott states, and Conley claims that at that time he was on Peters street, and couldn't have been where Mincey says he saw him.

"We are certain," the detective said, "that Conley was on Peters street between 3 and 4 on the afternoon of the tragedy, not simply because he says that he was there, but because we have found a number of witness who saw him there then."

ATLANTA BOY SCOUTS TO MARCH TO CHATTANOOGA

Scoutmaster E. G. Everett, in command of Troop 3, Boy Scouts of America, will leave Friday for a trip to Chattanooga with the entire troop.

CUMBERLAND PROPRIETOR EXPLAINS HIS POSITION

Has Always Asked Detective Dept. to Investigate Suspicious Incidents, He Says

Atlanta, Ga., July 10, 1913.

Editor of The Journal:

As proprietor and manager of the Hotel Cumberland, which has been very prominently mentioned in connection with the recent police court investigation of vice conditions in the city, I would like to say that while I became financially interested in the Hotel Cumberland in February of this year, it is only since the first of June that I have had personal supervision and management of it. I found the Barnhardt woman and her child as guests in the hotel when I took charge, she being registered under the name of "Leverson." She at all times has conducted herself in a manner to prevent suspicion around the hotel.

Since taking charge of the hotel I have endeavored to conduct it in a strictly first-class style, and have allowed no suspicious characters so far as I could determine, to stop there. On more than one occasion when I have had reason to suspect that there was something wrong I reported the matter to the detective department, and caused them to investigate, and each time they informed me that they found nothing wrong.

While there have been many erroneous statements made with reference to the Smith girl, I merely wish to say that I never saw her until she was arraigned in police court. She was registered at the hotel under the name of Lucile Evans, and on Sunday night when the detectives came inquiring for Hattie Smith, describing her, the night clerk told them that no one by that name was registered, but that the description fitted a guest in Room 43, and offered to carry them up to investigate, which ch he did, and she was found in Room 43, alone.

Very respectfully,
C. B. KISTNER.

VETERAN OF GETTYSBURG DISAPPEARS AT REUNION

(By Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—James H. Richardson, seventy-six, a veteran of the Civil war and of the battle of Gettysburg, is missing, having disappeared either from the battlefield, where he went to attend the semi-centennial reunion, or some time during the journey home. G. Curtis Richardson, of Terre Haute, a son, yesterday appealed to the police and the governor to aid in the search.

Some friends of the missing man assert that he was last seen when taken from a train in Indianapolis, July 3, and taken to a hospital.

SEES BROTHER'S SLAYER HANGED IN FULTON TOWER

Oscar Dewberry, Negro, Goes to Death for Murder of Horace Dodson

One year from the day and hour when his victim died, Oscar Dewberry, negro, paid with his own life the penalty for murder, Friday morning. He was hanged in the Fulton county jail for having killed Horace Dodson, a white youth, on Decatur street. Dodson lingered several weeks with knife wounds in his body, and died on July 11, 1912, shortly before noon. Dewberry, his convicted murderer, dropped through the trap of the gallows Friday at 11:05 o'clock. Thirty minutes later City Physician M. C. Martin and County Physician J. W. Hurt declared him dead.

H. H. Proctor and J. T. Dorsey, negro ministers, were with the condemned man during his last hour. They and his father and some other negroes accompanied him to the gallows, where they sang hymns while he was being tied up for execution. "Pinky" Dewberry a sister of the murderer was confined in the jail under a burglary conviction, she was allowed to see her brother and then was returned to her own cell on the same floor where she shouted and screamed while Oscar was being hanged.

The negro made no public confession, but before he went to the gallows made a confession to Rev. H. H. Proctor, admitting the crime, but claiming self-defense. He was convicted upon the testimony of three eye-witnesses, the murder being done in the open street. Sheriff Mangum, after reading the death warrant, asked the negro if he had any statement to make. The condemned man muttered "No." Deputy Sheriff J. S. Owens released the lever which dropped the trap beneath the negro.

W. A. Dodson, a brother of the youth who was murdered, was one of the few unofficial witnesses of the hanging.

MILITIA FOR "NEW COUNTY UPRISINGS," SOLON'S JEST

By way of satire Representative Moye of Johnson Friday introduced a resolution in the house of representatives to appoint a committee of three to confer with the governor upon the advisability of calling out the militia to suppress the "new county uprisings."

It was referred to the committee on constitutional amendments by request of the author.

Use Sea Water in Baking

(West Coast Leader, Lima, Peru.)

The local papers are complaining about the size of the bread sold by the Iquique bakers, who, besides charging two and one-half cents for a loaf of bread of twenty-two grams weight, it is said, are using sea water in their bakeries.

PLAN TO BUY A. B. & A. IS UP TO LEGISLATURE

Paulk Bill, Proposing Purchase, Provides Commission of Seventeen Members

The suggestion of purchase of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad by the state at the approaching foreclosure sale is squarely before the legislature now in the form of a resolution introduced Friday morning by Representative Paulk, of Ben Hill.

The Paulk resolution would authorize the appointment of a commission of seventeen members to investigate the feasibility of the plan.

Behind the resolution is the proposal to extend the state road, the Western and Atlantic, to the sea along the rails of the present A. B. & A., to make it a real arbiter in freight rates in Georgia.

Under the Paulk resolution, five members of the investigating commission would be appointed from the senate and twelve would be named from the house, the house members coming from the twelve congressional districts of Georgia.

The resolution was referred to the W. & A. committee.

FRANK HAMMOND HONORED AT SEATTLE CONVENTION

Mayor's Secretary Elected Deputy Grand President of the T. M. A.

Frank Hammond, secretary to Mayor Woodward, who is in Seattle, Wash., as delegate from the Atlanta lodge to the biennial convention of the Theatrical Mechanical Association of America, has been honored by an election as chairman of the finance committee and as deputy grand president.

"The Footlight," an Atlanta theatrical weekly magazine, in which Mr. Hammond is interested, has been selected as the official organ of the association, after a contest in which "The Billboard" was its chief competitor.

Through Mr. Hammond's efforts Atlanta was chosen as the meeting place of the association in 1917. In 1915 it goes to San Francisco.

The Theatrical Mechanical association was founded by Joseph Jefferson, the famous actor, and he was its first president, serving for 20 years. Any person who draws a salary from a theater box office is eligible to membership. Mr. Hammond has been connected with various theatrical enterprises in the capacity of publicity agent, and his magazine is quite a factor in theatrical affairs in the south.

A Card To The Public

We beg to announce that we have disposed of all the contentions which have agitated this company for the past several months.

The courts have listened attentively to every charge that has been brought against it, and have rendered judgment that it is properly managed, and that every policy is backed by hundreds of thousands of dollars of assets above all liabilities.

This company did more business during June than ever in its history, and since the abandonment of its life insurance business has made good money for its stockholders.

With these statements, we beg to assure our patrons and the public that we shall endeavor to merit a continuance of confidence by giving the best attention to every detail of the business, to the end that every policyholder may be fully satisfied with our service.

TWO CITY ALDERMEN IN HOT, WORDY ARGUMENT

J. H. Harwell Tells J. R. Nutting to "Leave Him Out of His Remarks Hereafter"

Alderman John H. Harwell, of the First ward, and Alderman James R. Nutting, of the Sixth ward, had a lively exchange of words Thursday afternoon shortly after the adjournment of a meeting of the aldermanic board, which transacted no business on account of the absence of a quorum.

Alderman Nutting was insisting that the meeting be called at 5:30 o'clock in the hope of obtaining a quorum by that hour, and Alderman Harwell objected on the ground that he could not come back.

"Why can't you?" asked Alderman Nutting.

"That's none of your business," retorted Alderman Harwell.

Alderman Nutting said it was his business, both being aldermen and the matter being one of public business.

Alderman Harwell treated this argument smilingly, and thereupon Alderman Nutting remarked that "if Alderman Harwell wouldn't come, the meeting would have to be postponed until Friday," or words to that effect.

This made Alderman Harwell angry. Turning upon Alderman Nutting, he shook his finger in his face and said: "You'll leave me out of your remarks hereafter. If you dont' understand what I mean I'll make it a little plainer, so that you cannot fail to understand."

"All right, alderman; no offense was meant," replied Alderman Nutting, and the incident passed.

Some time later Alderman Harwell called up Alderman Nutting over the telephone, and they are understood to have reached an amicable understanding.

The two have been friends all along, as a matter of fact, having known each other thirty years or more, and usually addressing each other as "John" and "Jimmie."

SOLICITOR DORSEY TOPS ALL OFFICIALS IN FEES

Court Clerk Arnold Broyles Runs Close Second in Quarterly Race

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey leal ithe other Fulton county officials in the matter of net income from his office during the second quarter of the year, covering the months of April, May and June.

According to the sworn report filed with the comptroller general Solicitor Dorsey's fees for the second quarter amounted to $5,734.41, while the expenses of his office—salaries of his assistant and one clerk—were $900. This left the solicitor a net income for the period of $4,881.41.

Clerk Arnold Broyles ran Solicitor Dorsey a close second. His gross fees were greater than those of the solicitor but his net income was less. The fees in the clerk's office totaled $14,472.66, but after paying clerks' salaries amounting to $10,464.57, his balance was $4,008.00.

Tax Collector A. P. Stewart's fees were considerably off for the second quarter. In fact Mr. Stewart's collections are heaviest in the first and last quarters of the year. His fees for the past three months aggregated $4,878.87, while his office expenses were $3,082.50, making his net receipts $1,796.37.

Ordinary John B. Wilkinson's receipts amounted to $6,382.28 and his disbursements were $2,511.80, the difference being $3,870.48.

Sheriff C. W. Manghum reported his receipts as $7,385.81 and his expenses for the hire of eighteen clerks, $6,971.08. This left him a net income for the quarter of $404.73.

Solicitor Lowry Arnold, of the city court, collected fees in the sum of $3,191.51 as against salary expenses of $749.97, his net receipts being $2,441.54.

LEGISLATURE WILL SPEND SATURDAY IN ATHENS

Law-Makers and State House Officers to Be Guests of Classic City

Members of the Georgia legislature and a large number of state house officials will spend Saturday in Athens as the guests of the Athens chamber of commerce and the citizens of the "Classic City."

They will leave Atlanta from the Union station on a special train over the Seaboard Air Line railroad at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and will make the trip in two hours.

The train will be met by a caravan of automobiles and special street cars, which will transport the lawmakers and state officials over the city and to the various state institutions. A big barbecue will be served the visitors at Tibbett's park, after which a number of speeches will be made.

In the late afternoon the special train will return to Atlanta, and supper will be served the visitors aboard the train.

C. C. Hallaway, secretary of the Athens chamber of commerce, and A. G. Dudley, one of the directors of the chamber, will personally look after the comfort and pleasure of the guests while en route to and from Athens. They have established their headquarters at the Hotel Ansley, where they are issuing tickets to the legislators and state officials.

TROOPS PATROL HAVANA; EXCITEMENT IS FEARED

HAVANA, July 11.—Fear of popular excitement as a sequel to announcement of the indictment of General Ernesto Asbbert, governor of Havana province, in connection with the shooting of General Armado Riva, chief of the Cuban national police, today caused the government to take rigorous precautions against possibilities of an outbreak.

Throughout the city military guards were increased heavily.

Troops of cavalry patroled the streets throughout the night, while the police prohibited the gathering of more than three persons after midnight.

President Menocal today signed a decree suspending General Asbbert from his office as governor of Havana province.

Miss Annie Dickson Dead

Miss Annie Dickson, aged twenty-four years, of Townville, S. C., died at a private sanitarium in Atlanta Friday morning. Her body has been removed to the undertaking parlors of the Burket-Simmons company, where it will be held until the arrival from the South Carolina city of her brother, J. Walter Dickson.

MORTGAGE MEASURE IS VOTED DOWN IN HOUSE

Governor Slaton's Ideas Regarding School and Pension Funds Appear as Bill

A constitutional amendment providing for a change of time in publishing notice of mortgage foreclosures to thirty days before the foreclosure instead of four months as has heretofore been the law, was defeated in the house Friday morning through a failure to secure the constitutional majority of two-thirds vote. The vote was 83 to 76 in favor of the bill.

The measure which was introduced by Representative Davidson, of Putnam, and Sparks, of Toombs, came to the house with a report in favor of its passage, Representative Moss, of the commitee, opposed the bill.

The presentation of this bill for passage precipitated the third floor fight of the present session and consumed a greater part of the day's deliberations. Mr. Moss was allowed twenty minutes for his argument against the passage of the bill. Mr Wohlwender, of Muscogee, chairman of general judiciary committee No. 1 to which the bill was referred, gave his time, ten minutes each, to Mr. Wright, of Floyd, and Mr. Blackburn, of Fulton, who spoke in support of the measure.

Upon learning the result, Mr. Wright announced to the speaker that he would ask for a reconsideration of the action of the house at an early date.

The early part of the session was taken up with the first and second reading of local and general bills and the passage of several local bills. Under *the rules o fthe house, the roll by coun*ties was called and each representative allowed to introduce one general bill and as many local bills as he sq desired.

The first bills touching on the proposed increase in taxation to provide for the payment of pensions and the salaries of the school teachers of the state were introduced by Speaker Burwell and Mr. Fullbright, of Burke. The two companion bills of Mr. Burwell provide for an a ppropriation of not more more than 2 1-2 mills on taxable property for the schools. An advance of 1 1-2 mills for pensions is provided, and the total amount accruing therefrom not to exceed $1,180,000.

The bill of Mr. Fullbright, making provisions along the same line, for schools exclusively, seeks for an increase of one mill during the year 1915 and 1 1-2 mills during the following year.

At 12:40 o'clock the house adjourned until 11 o'clock Monday morning, in order to allow members of the general assembly to visit Athens as the guests of that city Saturday.

DR. GEORGE NILES HEADS ETHICAL LECTURE SERIES

Miss Margaret Laing, of Children's Court, Is Secretary of the New Committee

At a recent meeting of the committee for ethical lectures, held in the Carnegie library, officers were elected for the season of 1913-14, and the report of the retiring committee was read and adopted.

Dr. George M. Niles wa. elected chairman and Miss Margaret Laing, of the children's court, was elected secretary. These two have authority to appoint the executive committee.

The report of the past season was read by Max H. Wilenski, the retiring chairman. Despite many absences from the city during the summer, the report showed the encouraging fact that $125 already has been subscribed to the fund of $800 necessary to defray the expenses of the next season.

The report further announced that for next season's lectures the American Ethical union will assist with the following lecturers:

Dr. Horace Bridges, of the Chicago Ethical society; Mrs. Anna Garlin Spencer, of the New York School of Philanthropy; Dr. Percival Chubb, of the St. Louis society; Dr. David Saxille Muzey, of the New York society, and Dr. C. DeLisle Burns, extension lecturer of Oxford university, England.

Following are the subscribers to date for the lectures which begin in the fall: Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, Mrs. Edward Brown Mrs. T. S. Lewis, Mrs. John W. Rowlett, Mrs. Benjamin Phillips, Mrs. A. P. Corse, Mrs. Sara Strahan, Miss Margaret Laing, Mr. Porter Langston, Mr. W. R. Prescott, Mr. J. C. Greenfield, Mr. Harold Hirsch, Mr. Benjamin Elsas, Dr. George M. Niles, Dr. Edward T. Ware, Mr. John Gilmore, Dr. DeLoe L. Hill, Dr. Louis Roughn, Mr. George Hillyer, Jr., Dr. E. C. Cartledge, Mr. Fred J. Comer, Mr. A. H. Bancker, Mr. Nat Ullman, Mr. James Lawrence, Mr. M. H. Wilensky and Mr. Luke E. Tate, of Tate, Ga.

MORE RAIN ON PROGRAM, SAYS MR. VON HERRMANN

More rain is on the program of Weather Man von Hermann for Friday afternoon and Saturday, with little likelihood of its clearing up immediately. Only showers, however, are expected, with plenty of sunshine in between. The temperature will remain unchanged.

Everything considered, one would have thought that instead of being the eighteenth nation to accept the Bryan peace plan, Spain would have been the first.—Indianapolis News.

ENGINEERS AND OTHERS PROPOSE TO AFFILIATE

It is proposed to affiliate all local branches of various architectural, mechanical and engineering associations at a big picnic which will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the river pumping station.

Among the organizations which will be represented are the Atlanta branches of the National Architectural institute, of the American Society of Civil Engineers, of the American Chemical society, of the American Institutional of Electrical Engineers, and of the Engineering Institute of the South.

After enjoying a big barbecue during the afternoon steps will be considered toward the affiliation idea and a plan discussed whereby all the societies will co-operate in the various work of each.

NEW ORDINANCE UNDER FIRE IN THE COURTS

Atlanta's new city ordinance regulating electrical supply houses doing business in the city, is going to be tested in the superior court, where Friday its validity was questioned on the ground that it is discriminatory and consequently unconstitutional.

The ordinance calls for $1,500 bond from all electrical supply firms for the faithful performance of contracts. In addition it requires all firms to register and make statements of their condition to the superintendent of electrical affairs for the city.

Robert LeRoy, W. T. Proctor and Laird Long, doing business as the L. & L. Electrical company, have refused to comply with the provisions of the ordinance, and have petitioned the court for an injunction to restrain the city from collecting the penalty for a refusal to comply with the act.

KIMBROUGH SAYS SOUTH GEORGIA CROPS FLOURISH

J. T. Kimbrough, the real estate agent, has just returned from a trip in central and south Georgia. He brings back a highly encouraging report of crop conditions as he saw them.

He saw conditions in Bibb, Crawford, Houston, Dooly and Fannin counties. The people, he says, are well pleased over the outlook. The peach crop was cut short, but the growers have made larger profits. Wheat and oats have done well, wheat averaging thirty-five bushels to the acre. Cotton, corn and peas are looking well.

CARL VINSON RENAMED BALDWIN COURT JUDGE

Governor Slaton Sends Four Nominations to Senate, Which Are Promptly Confirmed

For the second time this year the state senate went into executive session Friday morning to confirm four appointments sent by Governor John M. Slaton. All were passed. They are:

L. D. Shannon, to be judge of the city court of Jeffersonville for a term of four years from August 17, 1913.

H. J. Griffin, Jr., Esq., to be solicitor of the city court of Jeffersonville for a term of four years from August 17, 1913.

Carl Vinson, to be judge of the county court of Baldwin county for a term of two years from September 3, 1913.

J. D. Howard, Esq., to be solicitor of the county court of Baldwin county for a term of two years from February 2, 1914.

The bill creating the county of Barrow, which was passed in the house Thursday, was read for the first time and referred to the committee on finance. Several other bills went to the second readings and a number were introduced.

House resolution No. 17, authorizing the payment of the earned salary of the insurance clerk, as provided in the code of Georgia, was passed with one dissenting voice.

The committee on hygiene and sanitation recommended for passage the bill of Senator Longino, which creates a medical board consisting of five allopathic, two eclectic and one homeopathic physician to regulate the practice of medicine in the state. The same committee recommended Senator Hagen's bill, providing for the sanitation of bakeries, restaurants, canneries and the like.

The committee on commerce and labor reported four bills favorably which have to do with the regulation of factory conditions. The finance committee reported unfavorably on a bill advancing the date of issuing fi fas by tax collectors. The education committee recommended a bill requiring written charges against county commissioners.

Among the bills introduced for the first time Friday was the measure of Senator Perry, which provides for regular monthly payment of school teachers. The senator says that he thinks this bill will serve to do away with all lagging payments of teachers in the future.

The old Ducktown case, which manages to creep into the legislature in some form or other every session, cropped up again in the senate. Senator Johnson offered a resolution authorizing the governor to investigate the differences between certain citizens of north Georgia and the owners of Tennessee copper mines. It is believed that some legislation in regard to this matter will be taken this year by the general assembly.

The senate adjourned at noon to meet again at 12 o'clock Monday.

FEDERAL FUND OF $72,000 FOR TWO FLORIDA RIVERS

Appropriation Is Link in Chain of General Scheme to Drain Everglades

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—As a link in the chain of the general scheme for drainage of the Everglades in Florida, the war department today recommended to the house an appropriation of $47,000 for an improvement of the Kissimmee river and $25,000 for the improvement of the Caloosahatchee river in Florida.

The Kissimmee is to have a channel at least three feet deep and thirty feet wide throughout the 137 miles from Kissimmee to Lake Okeechobee. The Caloosahatchee is to have a channel five feet deep and seventy-five feet wide for forty-three miles from Fort Myers to Fort Thompson. All obstructions in the channels from the gulf to Lake Okeechobee are to be removed.

Chief Engineer Bixby, in his report, said these improvements are not made conditional on the construction by the state of Florida of controlling works at the mouth of Kissimmee and the head of the Caloosahatchee rivers, "as the necessity of such work is apparently dependent upon the state's adoption of a larger drainage project."

"These matters," he added, "will receive attention by the war department if application should be made in the future for approval of plans for extension of the drainage project."

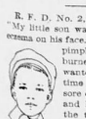
ECZEMA LOOKED AWFUL ON FACE

Started with Watery Pimples. Itched and Burned Badly. Awful Sore. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Boy Now Well.



R. F. D. No. 2, Fredericks Hall, Va. — "My little son was very bad off with the eczema on his face. It started with watery pimples and it itched and burned so badly that he wanted to scratch it all the time and he made an awful sore on his face. I would sit and hold his hands a lot of the time to keep him from scratching it. He didn't sleep any scarcely. The eczema looked awful while on his face. I was afraid it would last for life. He was real cross and fretful.

"I had him treated and he grew worse daily. As soon as I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment I sent and got a twenty-five cent cake of Cuticura Soap and a fifty cent box of Cuticura Ointment and began using them. I saw a difference in a short time. I only used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment a few weeks before he was a well boy." (Signed) Mrs. Kate B. Pleasants, Dec. 12, 1912.

Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery, because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

The affair will commence at 8:10 o'clock and will be preceded by a concert on the parade grounds commencing at 7:10 o'clock. The public is cordially invited.

FEARLESS MEN WANTED AS CITY DOG CATCHERS

City Clerk Walter Taylor on Hunt for Two Heroes to Drive Dog Wagon

City Clerk Walter Taylor is in the market for a couple of dog catchers.

He wants men who are active, energetic and alert. The job consists in driving a dog wagon through the streets, catching up the dogs that are not tagged, and confining them in a pound.

Thus if an owner misses his dog he is pretty apt to find it in the pound, and he may redeem it by purchasing a tag.

Council in recent months passed several ordinances aimed at stray dogs, the purpose being to reduce the number of hydrophobia cases. Mayor Woodward vetoed them all on the ground that there was dog legislation enough already. The principal ordinance referred to by the mayor is an old one, not enforced in years, which requires dogs to be tagged and provides for a dog wagon to operate about twice a year and catch up all dogs not tagged.

Council at its last meeting determined that this ordinance should be enforced, and accordingly passed a resolution authorizing the clerk to purchase a supply of tags and to spend $10 per day to operate two dog wagons.

Graft Riot Anniversary

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Old New Yorkers recalled today that this was the fiftieth anniversary of the conscription order which precipitated scenes of disorder and bloodshed that went down in history as the New York graft riots. The conscription began Saturday, July 11, 1863, after strong talk had been devoiced against the drafting of more recruits on the ground that the war practically was over and that the order was a party measure.

(From a Troy, O., Dispatch.)

The flood here has left in its wake sixty dead as a living monument to the work of destruction.

GEORGIA AND HER POLITICS

Brannan Renews Fight For Salary System For Fulton County Officials

Charles I. Brannan, the well-known salesman, who for a score of years has waged a no-quarter war on the fee system in Georgia and especially as it applies in Fulton county, is back in the fight with renewed faith and courage.

Mr. Branan says he has pledged himself not to let up in this fight until it is won. Disappointed that the law passed last year putting Fulton county officials on the salary system was declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court he is now urging the members of the legislature to pass a new law and one which will not be thrown out by the courts.

During the past few days Mr. Brannan has put on the desk of each member of the general assembly a circular giving the history of the fight to abolish the fee system.

Widespread Attention is Attracted To Lipscomb's Tax Equalization Bill

Perhaps no bill so far introduced at the present session of the general assembly has called forth more thoughtful consideration and comment in all sections of the state than the tax equalization measure presented by Representative Frank A. Lipscomb, of Clarke county.

Lawmakers, state officials and the public generally agree that a change in the state's tax system is needed. Mr. Lipscomb, after consultation with some of the best lawyers and most experienced business men in the state, drafted his bill which provides for a system of equalization of assessments of property for taxation; for a state board of tax equalizers; defines the duties of such board; provides for the appointment, term of office and compensation of its members; for a county board of tax equalizers and defines its duties, and provides how the members of such board shall be appointed, their term of office and compensation, and for just and adequate returns of property for taxation, and equitable valuation thereof.

Fraternal Orders to Be Classed With Regular Insurance Concerns.

Representative Ed Wohlwender, of Muscogee, has introduced a bill in the house providing that all fraternal orders having insurance features shall be required to register with the insurance commissioner, obtain a license and be amenable to all the rules which apply to regular insurance companies.

Mr. Wohlwender says that he was impelled to introduce his bill because of the fact that there are a great many irresponsible companies which are doing an insurance business under the guise of being fraternal orders. He says it frequently turns out that the policy holders in these organizations are without protection and that it is often impossible to collect claims from them.

Senate Will Wait on House To Pass New County Measures.

The senate committee on constitutional amendments Senator G. Y. Harrell, chairman, will not consider any new county bills introduced in the senate while similar bills are pending in the house. In other words, the committee will wait until the house bills reach it before it takes up its own bills for consideration. This plan, which was advanced by Chairman Harrell, is expected to save much time and to result in general satisfaction.

Representative J. J. Slade Would Absolutely Disfranchise Negroes.

Ever since reconstruction days when he saw the freed negroes voting while he was denied that right, Major J. J. Slade, the veteran member of the legislature from Muscogee county, has, in season and out of season worked with a view of disfranchising the negroes and forever eliminating them as a factor in politics.

When the legislature of 1908 passed the disfranchisement act, or rather the act which fixed the qualifications of voters, Major Slade was highly delighted. He was later disappointed to learn that hundreds of negroes could qualify for franchise rights.

Thereupon Major Slade set about preparing an amendment to the disfranchisement act which would effectually and forever drive the ballot away from the negro in Georgia. He decided that the particular section in the disfranchisement act where he should insert his amendment was in that which requires the voter to be a man of good character.

Will Grant Hearing On Milledge County Bill.

Senator G. Y. Harrell, chairman of the constitutional amendment committee of the state senate, announces that on next Tuesday the committee will grant a hearing to all those who are interested in the proposed creation of Milledge county. The meeting will be held in the senate chamber at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and it is expected that a large number of friends and opponents to the measure will be on hand to present their side of the case.

MOTORCYCLIST RIDES TO DEATH ON MACON TRACK

Says He'll Win Race or Break His Neck—Is Killed Instantly on Turn

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
MACON, Ga., July 11.—Martin O'Brien, a rider in the motorcycle races held at the Central City park yesterday afternoon, was instantly killed when his machine collided with the fence on the west end of the track, while he was speeding sixty miles an hour. His neck was broken and his machine completely demolished. He was on his last lap of a five-mile race when the fatal accident occurred.

He was leaning far to the left as he went around the curve. A pedal struck the ground, throwing him into the fence and driving his machine to a mass of battered junk.

O'Brien came here from rooklyn two years ago, and he was known as one of the most fearless riders of Macon. His body will be sent to Ne wYork for interment.

The event in which O'Brien met his death was the pursuit race, in which the starters, four in number, were placed at diffierent points on the track and as soon as one racer passed another the man passed was out of the running.

On the second round of the track, which was slippery from the effects of a light rainfall, O'Brien's machine skidded and he was thrown for some distance and slid for a hundred feet upon his back. The handlebars of his motorcycle were broken.

"Give me another machine," he yelled. "I'll win this race or break my neck."

Another machine was quickly obtained and O'Brien started again. He had not been passed by the man following him and was gaining on the man ahead. On the third round at almost the same spot, which also happens to be the very spot where Aviator Ely was killed nearly two years ago, his machine again skidded and crashed into a fence in front of the agricultural building, used by the state fair.

O'Brien was thrown violently over his handlebars and his head struck some timbers. His neck was broken and his skull fractured.

Three thousand persons were alongside the track at the time of the accident. Hundreds rushed to the scene, including several doctors. It was found that O'Brien had been killed almost instantly. The race ended there.

O'Brien was a well known hatter and an officer of the Macon Motorcycle club. The races were those postponed from the Fourth of July.

SAVANNAH MASONS HONOR P. A. STOVALL

Editor of Press and Minister to Switzerland Presented Jewel

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SAVANNAH, Ga., July 11.—Hon. Pleasant A. Stovall, minister to Switzerland, who is to leave for his post the latter part of this week, received a very pleasant surprise last night. He was invited to visit Zerubbabel lodge of Masons, over which he presided for a year as master, and at this meeting he was presented with a past master's jewel as a token of regard on the part of his fellow Masons. Mr. Stovall made very appreciative of this gift, and delivered a beautiful address upon its receipt.

Tonight Mr. Stovall has another surprise in store. He has been invited by the employes of the Savannah Press, of which paper he is the editor and proprietor, to attend a supper at the Thunderbolt Casino, to be the guest of honor.

When the supper is concluded Mr. Stovall is to be presented by the employes of the paper with a large silk American flag, which is to be his personal property to be displayed at the American legation at Berne.

Next week he is to get a silver service from the business men of Savannah. He will pay a visit to north Georgia before departing on his diplomatic mission. He will probably spend the early days of the week at Athens and Atlanta telling his friends goodbye. He will also pay a visit to the Georgia legislature and to Governor Slaton before getting away.

ATLANTA WILL BE FIRST STOP OF WAR SECRETARY

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—Secretary Garrison today announced the itinerary of his trip for inspection of army posts. Leaving Washington next Wednesday with General James B. Aleshire, of the quartermaster corps, Secretary Garrison will visit first Atlanta, Ga., after which his itinerary will be as follows:

D., 9; Billings, Mont., 10; Sheridan, Wyo., 11; Edgemont, S. D., 12, and Deadwood, S. D., 13.

After completing inspection of the remaining posts in the north and middle west the party will return to Washington August 28.

TRICKS DOCTOR TO SAVE HIM

J. D. Byrne, a San Francisco business man, for a long time President of the California Fig Products Co., heard that a friend, a young physician, was fading under a last case of Bright's Disease. The doctor becoming thoroughly discouraged, Byrne induced him to consent to use something he would take to him.

Byrne went to the nearest drug store, bought a bottle of Fulton's Renal Compound, soaked the label off and took it to the patient. He began to mend and Byrne got him another bottle and still another.

When recovery was in sight he was told it was Fulton's Renal Compound. And this is not the first case of this kind. A number of cases have been reported in which the patients were so certain nothing could be done that they, too, had to be deceived to put them in the way of recovery.

There is no escape whatever from the fact that Bright's Disease is being cured by Fulton's Renal Compound. If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Edmondson Drug Co., 11 N. Broad St., and 106 N. Pryor St., Atlanta, Ga. Ask for pamphlet on our investigation into the curability of Bright's Disease or write John J. Ful- [illegible] (Advt.)

Spends a Million a Year

Charles G. Gates, son of his father, dashed from Minneapolis the other day on a special train while a story was one of the smaller steel companies to in circulation that he was running from his father-in-law, who was said to have whipped him in a cafe. But he denied that he had been whipped, and insisted there was no one in New York who could do that.

He had just gone to New York to wake things up along Broadway.

"I spend a million dollars a year," said he. "What is money for? Let it float and do some good. I am going to keep on spending."

The young man was left a large fortune by his father, the late John W. Gates, who got his pile when he sold one of the smaller stel companies to J. P. Morgan to make up the steel trust.

BOSTON MAN SHOOTS NEGRO WOMAN TO DEATH

Declares Negress Attacked Him and He Shot in Own Defense—Justified by Coroner

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
BOSTON, Ga., July 11.—Lizzie Slay, a young negro woman, was shot and killed here last night by R. D. Garbett, a white citizen of this town. J. M. Ricketson, a neighbor to Mr. Garbett, was the first on the scene. He states that he found the negro woman lying dead on Mr. Garbett's back porch. The bullet pierced the woman's hand, then entered her brain and killed her instantly.

Mr. Garbett today made this statement.

"I was eating my supper alone in my home when some one suddenly came in and struck me upon the head with something that seemed like a pair of tongs. I then secured a pistol and followed my assailant, who had retreated to the back porch. When I advanced I found a negro woman, who again made for me with a drawn hatchet. I warned her to stop, but she came on. Again I warned her and when she still advanced upon me, I fired."

Coroner Gandy came down from Thomasville this morning and an inquest was held and the verdict rendered was justifiable homicide.

Chicago's "Missing" Lsit of Women Reaches 21

(By Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 11.—The disappearance of Elizabeth Ruben, eighteen years old, after her mother had barred a boy friend from the house yesterday, added one more to the list of twenty-one missing women for whom the police are searching. Most of them are young. It is the longest "missing" list the department heads remember.

ITALIAN AGENTS COMING TO GET PORTER CHARLTON

Jail Authorities Ordered to Surrender Alleged Wife Murderer to Italian Government

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, July 11.—The Italian consulate is advised that two agents of the Italian government are leaving Italy today for this country to get Porter Charlton and take him back to Italy to stand trial there for the murder of his wife on their honeymoon at Lake Cosmo on June 7, 1910.

The authorities of the Hudson county jail, in Jersey City, have been directed to turn the alleged murderer over to the Italian agents, in accordance with the recent mandate of the United States supreme court.

Mrs. Charlton was the divorced wife of Neville H. Castle, a lawyer, of San Francisco.

Soda Jerker Elopes With Florida Heiress; Wooed Over Fountain

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 11.—Miss May Bowden, eighteen-year-old daughter of ex-Sheriff R. F. Bowden eloped with a drug clerk named Lewis A. Meyers, of Valdosta Ga., to that point, where they were married on Monday.

Miss Bowden had only recently been graduated from high school. She met Meyers at at a soda water foundtain here behind which he acted as waiter. He is twenty-five. The young folks fell in love at first sight. The girl's father discovered her infatuation and forbade all young men to call at home. The girl and the clerk met often at the fountain. Monday Meyers started on a vacation. Miss Bowden joined him on the train, later in the afternoon sending message to ex-sheriff saying: "All is over."

Bowden is a millionaire, and is raging.

Miss Bowden and Meyers were married by a minister at Folkston. They are now in Valdosta.

U. S. BATTLESHIP "NO. 39" TO BE BIGGEST AFLOAT

New Superdreadnought to Carry Main Battery of Twelve 14-Inch Guns

WASHINGTON, July 11.—With the signing of the contract for the construction of the new battleship known as No. 39, work on the latest dreadnought in the United States navy will begin at once. Secretary Daniels has signed the plans for the vessel, which is to be a sister ship to the dreadnought Pennsylvania, now building, and for which provision was made by *congress last year. The limit of cost, ex*clusive of armor and armament, will be $7,425,000.

The vessel is to be built in the New York navy yard, and probably will be the most powerful ship of war afloat, having a displacement of 31,400 tons, and being 600 feet long and upwards of 97 feet in breadth. A battery of twelve 14-inch guns, with four submerged torpedo tubes, will comprise her principal armament. In addition, there will be a number of small rapid fire guns and rifles in position.

M'KEESPORT BANK O. K.; TO RESUME ACTIVITIES

National Bank Examiner Says Institution Has Plenty of Cash

WASHINGTON, July 11.—National Bank Examiner Williams, in charge of the First National bank, of McKeesport, Pa., which closed its doors with the First-Second National bank, of Pittsburg, today reported that the institution would resume business next week, with plenty of cash.

Farmer Grows 3,600 Pounds of Tomatoes On One-Third Acre

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
THOMASVILLE, July 11.—From a third of an acre of land Charles Pittman, farming about two and a half miles from Thomasville, has recently gathered 3,600 pounds of tomatoes. These tomatoes were of the finest variety and all sound.

Other farmers in this section are engaged in the work of canning tomatoes both for home consumption and for marketing, and it begins to look as if soon the merchants of this section will be able to buy much of their canned goods at home.

*The crop of tomatoes in south Geor*gia has been the finest this year that has probably ever been known, and a great many have been shipped to the northern markets. The prices received have been unusually good, and dealers report that the quality of the Georgia tomato is superior to any other received this year.

Daring "Nick Carter" Causes Row in Court

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—"Nick Carter," the hero of many a "yellow back" novel, and worshipped by three generations of small boys, is to be considered by the supreme court.

"Nick" was about to appear upon the moving picture stage when a New York firm of publishers today claimed that Nick Carter was born in their imagination about twenty-three years ago, and had risen to fame as a leading character in the detective stories.

A St. Louis moving picture film company believed that "Nick" was destined to be a drawing card, and so they prepared and advertised a "detective" film with an attractive title. In their advertisement they declared: "We have struck oil, by gosh!"

The matter got into the courts. The New York firm claimed that the moving picture company was infringing on a trade mark. After going through the federal court of appeals for the eighth circuit, the matter was appealed by the publishing concern to the supreme court.

Takes No Chances

NEW YORK, July 11.—Governor Adolph C. Eberhardt takes no chances of getting into trouble on his tour of the east. He has arrived here with a body guard of four generals, six colonels and two majors. The party comprises veterans of the recent Gettysburg campaign, who led a contingent of 400 veterans of '63, sent by the state of Minnesota, to the recent semi-centennial.

McCombs Improves

PARIS, July 11.—So satisfactory is the progress made by William F. McCombs, chairman of the Democratic national committee, toward convalescence since his recent operation for appendicitis, that his doctors believe he will be able to leave the hospital at a comparatively early date.

WONDERFUL HOW RESINOL CURED ITCHING HUMOR

NEW YORK, N. Y., May 19, 1913.—"I was taken with a terrible itching and burning in my hands. They would crack and bleed. I could not do my work. I had to walk the floors at night. I tried —— and ——, but no relief, until I used Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and could go to sleep. The Resinol treatment is something wonderful, for if you could see my hands you would never think that they were ever sore—they are so nice and soft, and I can do all my work now." (Signed) Mrs. Wm. Sutherland, 125 East 71st St.

For eighteen years Resinol has been a doctor's prescription and household remedy for eczema, ringworm, pimples, dandruff, wounds, burns, scalds and piles. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. Trial free; Dept. 5-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. (Advt.)

MAIL SERVICE CHANGES AS PREDICTED IN JOURNAL

Postmaster General Burleson Issues Orders Affecting Atlanta Division

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—As exclusively forecasted in The Atlanta Journal of Wednesday, changes in the railway mail service affecting superintendents and chief clerks in the fourth division were made today by Postmaster General Burleson.

They are as follows:

H. M. Robinson, superintendent at New Orleans to Atlanta, as superintendent, succeeding George W. Pepper, who became chief clerk at Cleveland. H. M. Rager, chief clerk at Atlanta, goes to San Francisco in the same position to fill a vacancy. George S. Cobb, now a railway postal clerk, is made chief clerk at Atlanta. Charles S. Beaver, chief clerk at Jacksonville, Fla., is transferred to be chief clerk at Pittsburg, being succeeded by W. L. M. Austin, a railway postal clerk.

Other changes were: Still P. Taft, chief clerk at St. Louis, promoted to be assistant superintendent, and John W. Musgrave transferred from the railway postoffice to succeed Mr. Taft.

C. C. Markward, chief clerk at Cleveland, goes back to the railway postoffice.

John Clark is promoted from the railway postoffice to be chief clerk at Cincinnati, succeeding J. E. Diffenderfer, who goes back on the road.

Women of Southern Clubs Winners in Health Campaigns

(By Associated Press.)
SALT LAKE CITY, July 11.—That the women of the Federated Clubs of the Southern States promise to outshine those of the north with their health campaigns was a statement contained in the report of the school health committee at the session of the National Council of Education her today.

The council, in session here in connection with the National Education association, elected these officers:

Robert J. Alley, president University of Maine, president; W. B. Owen, Chicago, secretary; David W. Johnson, president Winthrop college, South Carolina, member of the executive committee.

The Religion Education association, which was to have met today, announced that it had been decided not to hold sessions while in Salt Lake City. It denied that cancellation was due to fear of religious controversy.

GRIFFIN, July 11.—Mrs. Mary Burpee, aged eighty, of Athens, died last night at the home of her son, A. L. Burpee, after a short illness. She was on a visit here when she was taken ill. The body will be carried to Athens tomorrow for burial.

THE PRETTIEST GIRL IN TOWN

you may be certain, is one of the healthiest girls in town. There is an inward-beauty-reason for that bright and smiling eye, those cherry lips, that blooming skin. It's not romantic, but it's absolute truth that a busy, hustling liver makes for her the beauty that you envy.

Probably, though, you are not blessed with a naturally active liver. If that's the case, your liver needs PODOLAX just as badly as a cripple needs a crutch—must have it! PODOLAX is a positive health-builder. It stimulates and brings up to concert pitch every activity of the liver, stomach and bowels—gently but firmly. There's no ruinous dynamiting of the liver and bowels, as when you use Calomel (Mercury) and violent salts purgatives. The benfits of PODOLAX are permanent: it takes up the most important part of its work right where mere purgatives leave off.

Get a bottle of PODOLAX on your way home tonight. Take a little at bedtime. You'll feel fine tomorrow, and look it, too. There's a smile in every spoonful.

LEGAL NOTICES.

GEORGIA, Fulton County.

Notice is hereby given that on August 4th, 1913, or as soon thereafter as may be practicable, the undersigned, will apply to the judge of the superior court of Fulton county, Ga., at the court house in said county, for an order authorizing him as guardian for Richard B. Corley and Myrtice M. Corley, to sell for the purpose of reinvestment, the following property of his said wards, to-wit:

All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the city of Atlanta, Ga., known as Number 253 Randolph street and more particularly described as follows: Beginning at a point one hundred and ten (110) feet, (by the original line) north of the northeast corner of Randolph street and Houston street and running thence west one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet, thence north sixty-three (63) feet, thence west one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet, thence south sixty-three (63) feet to the point of beginning. Along the east side of Randolph street sixty-three (63) feet to the place of beginning.

The reason for making said application is that the improvements thereon are old and depreciating in value and its condition will necessitate the expenditure of considerable money to make it conform to the comfortable modern residences. Said property is no longer desirable as white residence property and is rapidly depreciating as such. Said property will become more expensive continually to keep in order and in repair.

COMMITTEE DISCUSSES BANKING DEPT. BILL

Commerce and Labor Committee Favors Four Factory Bills—Other Meetings

Three senate committees met Thursday afternon to consider various bills, one in joint session with a house committe. This was the committee on banks and banking, which had under discussion a bill, not yet introduced, to create a department of banking in the state, the purpose of which will be to oversee the condition of banks all over Georgia.

Printed copies of the bill have been made. T. S. Etheridge, of the Georgia Bankers' association, made a strong speech to the committee in favor of the measure. No action was taken, as the purpose of the authors of the bill is merely to get it before the members of the legislature at this stage of the session.

The committee on commerce and labor met and agreed to recommend four bills to the senate for passage. They were introduced by Senator Kea at the request of H. M. Stanley, secretary of the department of commerce and labor. One requires factories to report conditions to the department; one gives the department authority to designate placement of seats for women employes in factories; one requires factories to provide proper ventilation, heating and sanitation, and the fourth requires factories to report to the department when employes wish to make up for lost time.

The committee on education agreed to report favorably on a bill which requires charges in writing to be preferred against any school commissioner before he is dismissed.

The education committee considered a bill to establish a school of agriculture and mechanical arts in the Twelfth Congressional district. It was introduced by Senator Fred Kea and while no further action was taken other than to refer it to a sub-committee, the majority of the education committee appeared to favor the idea.

Senator Richardson's bill providing for the creation of three additional school supervisors will receive a special hearing before the education committee at its next meeting, when Marion L. Brittain, state superintendent of schools, will be heard on the question.

PROMINENT EDUCATORS WANT APPROPRIATIONS

House Committee Members Hear School Men Urge Their Respective Claims

Representatives of the several branches of the University of Georgia appeared before the general appropriations committee of the house Thursday afternoon and for over three hours pleaded their cause for a slice of the state's money for the maintenance of their institution.

Room 206, where the session was held, was filled to overflowing with those interested in the state colleges and normal school, and numbers who were unable to find seats stood in the two large doorways and listened to the arguments.

Prominent among those who came before the committee for an appropriation were Colonel Nat E. Harris, of Macon, chairman of the Georgia Technological school board of trustees; President K. G. Mathewson, of Tech; Dr. William H. Doughty, dean of the State Medical college, in Augusta; Dr. A. ... Soule, president of the State Agricultural college; Judge Enoch H. Calloway, a member of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia, and M. M. Parks, president of the Georgia Normal and Industrial school, at Milledgeville, and David C. Barrow, chancellor of the State university.

The appearance of this delegation of educators before the committee followed a conference earlier in the day with Governor Slaton, in reference to state appropriations. In only two instances was more than the regular appropriation of $10,000 asked for. The State Medical college asks for $30,000 with which to put in operation the new plant which the people of Augusta have purchased as a new site for the medical college. A like amount was sought by the State Agricultural college with which to carry on the extension work.

COMMISSION PROBING COLUMBUS COUNCIL ROW

The controversy between the Columbus mayor and city council and the Southern Bell Telephone company of that city will be looked into next week by the state railroad commission, Chairman Murphey Candler and Rate Expert J. Prince Webster having been appointed as a committee to visit that city and examine the entire plant and facilities of the company. The company made an agreement with a previous city council that it could raise its rents, an increase which the present council has protested. The increase was made, the council and mayor protested, and the case was referred to the railroad commission.

Grand—Talking Pictures.
FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Fabioid Musical Comedy.

Another week is nearly complete at the Forsyth. The splendid variety of the program, coupled with unusual novelty, has made this week's offering most attractive.

Commencing with matinee on Monday and continuing all the rest of the week, Valerie Bergere and company will play a return engagement in Atlanta, this time presenting "Judgment," the newest success of this talented actress.

On the same bill will be Britt Wood, the clever character comedian, and other stars of the Keith circuits.

Motion pictures at the Grand continue to entertain. The Grand is building up a remarkable clientele that crowds the big house nearly all the time.

The comforts and conveniences of the Grand have never been more in evidence. The very fact that there is a confidence of safety and cleanliness has added to the popularity of the "movies."

This week's Bijou offering, "Along Broadway," continues to draw crowded houses. In the attraction for next week, "Hotel a la Carte," the management has secured another winner, and patrons of the house may anticipate a repetition of the good things in the way of music and fun. There will be the usual double matinee tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 and 4 and tomorrow night's performances will close the engagement of "Along Broadway."

RAILROAD BOARD HEARS LACK OF CUPS ON TRAINS

Since the recent federal order prohibiting the use of common drinking cups on interstate trains the state railroad commission has received a number of complaints of the lack of drinking water cups at stations and in passenger cars. Commissioner Perry and Chairman Candler have been appointed to frame a suitable order covering the necessities of the complaint for submission to the commission at its next meeting.

Chase Perfume Robbers

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Detectives are baffled on the scentless trail of robbers who stole 143 packages of perfume, weighing about 1,400 pounds and valued at about $5,000, from a downtown depot. It is believed the thieves backed up a truck to the depot late in the afternoon, just after the place had been closed, and loaded their booty.

SCHOOL BOOK PROBE IS FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

House Members Plan Commission of Five to Look Into Book Cost

Investigation of the cost of Georgia's school books was favored by the house committee on education by its vote, Friday morning, on the matter originating as a resolution by C. R. McCrory, representative from Schley county. Report recommending the creation of the investigating commission will be made to the house by the committee.

But the personnel of the commission will not be as intended originally by the author of the resolution. Mr. McCrory asked for a commission of eight—five from the house, three from the senate. On Friday, after attempts to change the resolution in previous meetings of the committee, he offered a substitute for all amendments, providing that the commission should consist of three members from the house and two from the senate with State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain an exofficio member. This was lost.

The committee then adopted a resolution providing for two members from the house, one from the senate, the governor and the state superintendent of schools, the membership being five, with no exofficio members. This plan will be reported favorably to the house.

On next Tuesday morning the committee will meet again to discuss some recommendation as to the length of the period for which the state contract for books should be renewed this year by the school book commission. That commission, under the law, would meet this fall and adopt the school books for use during the ensuing five-year period. The house committee probably will recommend some shorter period for the renewal, so that in case the commission's investigations develop ground for a change in the state's method, it can be altered in less than five years.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HOST TO LEGISLATORS

Strong Speeches Made for Tax Equalization at Banquet Held Thursday Night

The Atlanta chamber of commerce entertained the governor, the members of the legislature, the state house officials, and the judges of the supreme, superior and appellate courts at a dinner Thursday night at the Piedmont driving club.

The tax system of the state and the need for equalization was the topic of the evening. Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber of commerce, acted as toastmaster. He made a short address in which he touched on the broad scope of the chamber's work, praised the legislature, and mentioned the necessity of additional revenue for the state which tax equalization would provide.

Mr. Moore introduced Governor Slaton. The governor and the other speakers made strong speeches in favor of tax equalization and aroused the enthusiasm of all at the banquet by their plea for a bigger, better Georgia.

J. Randolph Anderson, president of the senate, and William H. Burwell, speaker of the house, both spoke strongly on the tax question.

About 350 people were present at the banquet.

PLAN NEW SENATORIAL DISTRICT FOR FULTON

Six Counties to Be Separate Districts, According to Favored Senate Bill

Fulton county and the five other counties ranked as the "big six" in Georgia will become state senatorial districts and the total number of districts in Georgia will be rearranged and increased to 60 instead of 44, if the Hulc-Anderson bill recommended by the senate committee on constitutional amendments meets similar favor on the floor of the legislature.

The committee reached its conclusion after thorough deliberation upon the proposed measure, which was introduced several days ago. Its authors are Senator Huie, of what is now the district in which Fulton lies, and Senator Anderson, president of the senate and member from the district in which Chatham county belongs.

The proposed rearrangements of districts was published in The Journal at the time the measure was introduced.

Church Members to Turn to Woods for Open Air Services

Open air church service of a city congregation will be the innovation made on Sunday by the members of the First Universalist church in Atlanta. It will be the first "basket lunch Sunday school" that Atlanta churches have known. The children particularly are to be recognized in the service, and through them the grown members of the congregation will be invited to attend, the usual relation between church adults and children being reversed in this way for a time.

The underlying reason for the innovation is the fact that the First Universalist church is without a pastor just now, so the leaders of the congregation have decided to devote their work to the children until the new minister comes.

Buckhead-Brookhaven trolley cars will take those attending it to the end of the line, where an automobile bus will take them aboard for conveyance to Silver Lake, some three miles beyond. The bus will meet the cars that leave town at 9, 9:20 and 9:40 o'clock. The service will begin at 11 o'clock and end at 12. From then until 2 the congregation will enjoy the basket lunch, to which each member will contribute.

Superintendent R. J. Macdonald, of the Universalist Sunday school, explains this interesting innovation in local church affairs.

"We feel that during the heated months of summer we may be able to worship God better in the open," says he. "Christ taught His greatest and best lessons in the open air. Therefore we have decided that whenever it is practicable we will hold our 'children's church' in the country, and make it an all-day outing for the young folks. We have called these meetings 'basket lunch Sunday schools.'"

Dr. E. M. Nighbert, of the United States bureau of animal industry, will address the school next Sunday.

"Children's church" will be continued each Sunday during July and August.

Judging by their inability to bring about peace, the powers might be called the weaks.

A Menace to Cotton Interests.

Commercial and civic bodies the country over, and particularly in the South, will do well to follow the timely example of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in registering a vigorous protest against the proposed federal tax of fifty cents a bale on cotton future contracts. Such contracts when made in connection with legitimate cotton business are as justifiable as they are necessary. They not only protect the dealer but they also benefit the farmer; to place upon them such a tax as has been suggested would be a grave injury to a legitimate and highly important field of the country's common interests.

Right-minded men are all agreed that gambling in cotton should be outlawed. But that is an entirely different matter from the future contract which the merchant makes as a safeguard against his sales. No other commodity fluctuates in price so widely and so continually as does cotton. A merchant may agree today to deliver to a mill a certain number of bales at a certain price and then find it impossible to do so without ruinous loss. It is essential to the very existence of the cotton business that he have some opportunity to protect himself against such sales; and that is the opportunity which the future contract provides. Without that resource, no extensive cotton business could be conducted.

The effect of this system is obviously toward maintaining a fair price for cotton, for, the merchant could not afford to offer such a price if he were forced to incur all the risks of fluctuation without any means of protection. Cotton exchanges should be duly regulated but at the same time their legitimate uses should be recognized. The proposed tax would accomplish no worthy end but on the contrary would imperil a great field of commercial and agricultural interests. It has no rightful place in the tariff bill, to which its advocate would attach it as a "rider." It should be promptly killed.

Bulgaria and the Balkans.

Bulgaria's boast that she could return two blows for every one given by the Greeks and Serbs was uttered in the haughty spirit that goes before a fall. Whipped into a sadder but wiser spirit by the Allies, whose just claims she refused to consider, she is now appealing for mediation from the rowers and, as the dispatches announce, has placed herself unreservedly in the hands of Russia. The result will probably be an early, if not an immediate, end to the present Balkan war on terms distinctly advantageous to Servia and Greece.

These two nations played a valorous part in the campaign against the Turks and earned a liberal share of the conquered lands to be divided. The Serbs were in the thick of the fighting around Adrianople and but for their timely reinforcements it is doubtful that the Bulgarians could have captured that city which was the key to the entire war. The Greeks rendered invaluable service both by land and sea and by closing the path between the Turkish army and its supplies did much to make victory possible. They were first, too, in the possession of Salonica. They have a broad basis for recognition in territorial allotments.

It was unfortunate for Balkan interests in general and especially for Bulgaria that the latter adopted so greedy and narrow a policy toward her allies when the war was over. A well-knit Balkan federation could wield large influence in the affairs of Europe but evidently it must be a federation built upon justice toward all its members; it cannot stand upon the selfish basis Bulgaria sought to establish. It is to be hoped that the lessons of the present war will be heeded and that the Balkan States may again be united to carry forward the great tasks of peace as successfully as they did those of war.

The Economic and Human Value of Legal Probation.

It is very gratifying to note that the General Judiciary Committee has reported favorably a bill introduced by Messrs. Myrick, of Chatham, and Gower, of Crisp, providing for the probation of certain types or classes of offenders against the law. This is one of the most timely and praiseworthy measures of penal reform ever proposed in Georgia and if enacted, as it should be, it will redound to the economic as well as the social welfare of the entire State and at the same time assure a fairer and more fruitful administration of justice.

Probation such as this bill prescribes has been well defined as "a system by which a court of criminal jurisdiction is vested with certain discretionary powers in dealing with offenders (notably first offenders guilty of a misdemeanor) so as to enable the court to allow the law-breaker his liberty under well-considered conditions with which he must comply and under the friendly, yet authoritative, guidance and oversight of an officer of the court, known as a probation officer." Thus the defendant's sentence is, in effect, suspended during his good behavior but promptly resumed, if he proves unworthy of his trust.

The practical values of such a plan in dealing with first offenders or with youths are numerous and far-reaching. For one thing, it enables the court to consider the history, the environment and the character of persons on trial and thereby to judge intelligently the needs and the rights of the individual case. If a man or woman has fallen under the law because of some stress of circumstances rather than from a really criminal nature, it is clear that his case should have particular treatment, for the community's good as well as the individual's. A probation system makes it possible to deal with this class of defendants as human beings rather than as mere figures on a legal chess board.

Furthermore, such a system prevents the degrading and sometimes ruinous effects of imprisonment. A jail or a convict camp is the last place on earth to which a wayward boy not out of his teens or a man not confirmed in criminal tendencies should be sent. When placed in daily association with hardened felons, he is likely to come forth at the end of his sentence a far greater menace to society than when he entered; and so the law defeats the very purpose it would serve. But such an offender, when placed under the guidance and supervision of an efficient probation officer and encouraged in habits of thrift and self-respect is in the majority of instances reclaimed and made useful to his family and to the community. This, it should be noted, is not a matter of hopeful surmise but one of record from States in every part of the Union where the probation system has been tried.

By this plan, too, men who are now taken from homes whose only support they often are, would be permitted to continue at work, earning bread for wife and children. Surely, this is a better policy, viewed simply from an economic standpoint, than that which by imprisoning the breadwinner throws his family upon public charity. The last report of the Prison Commission of Georgia shows that among the two thousand eight hundred and ninety convicts now serving sentences, one thousand, six hundred and forty-five are married, and that three hundred and sixty-seven are under twenty-one years of age. This record means that many innocent women and children are suffering and that many youths who with helpful influences might be saved from a life of crime are being crushed almost beyond hope.

Probation means economy to the State as well as justice to the individual and his dependent family, for, by reducing the number of prisoners who must be fed and guarded it lessens the cost of prison maintenance. Besides this, persons who may be too poor to pay a fine and who, under our present system, must accordingly serve a sentence would be enabled under the probation plan to pay fines in installments. Thus the rich and the poor would be given equal opportunity under the law. It is worth noting incidentally that thus, too, the public revenue from fines would be increased; and by the same method offenders can be made to pay damages or otherwise make restitution to those on whom they have inflicted injury or loss, a thing often impossible under our existing system.

Probation is particularly effective in dealing with drunkards and with men who desert or fail to support their families. It has been well said that when such a man is imprisoned his family is still without the wages he should earn; "under the probation system a non-supporting husband who is not incorrigible is required to keep at work and give his family a stated amount of money weekly. The probation officer besides keeping up with these payments exerts his influence to adjust domestic difficulties and to promote the family welfare."

The truth is the probation system is desirable from a standpoint of practical sense as well as humanitarianism. It is earnestly to be hoped that the pending bill will become a law.

It's always too early to rip, but never too late to mend.

THE PHILIPPINES

XXX.—AGUINALDO'S INSURRECTION.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

General Merritt went so far as to appoint a commission to meet a similar body appointed by Aguinaldo to "confer with regard to the situation of affairs and to arrive at a mutual understanding of the intent, purposes, aims and desires of the Filipino people and of the people of the United States." Six sessions were held, the last occurring on January 29, 1899, six days before the outbreak of open hostilities. Members of the conference sent by Aguinaldo were either unable or unwilling to do anything definite. At the close of the last session they were again assured by the Americans that no form of hostility would be begun by them.

By this time the insurgents had 10,000 militia in the very heart of the capital city of Manila itself. They were there under American protection, yet they were armed with bolos, shotguns and rifles. The notorious Pio del Pilar was in command. He schemed with rebel leaders without the city by day and plotted with his own lieutenants within the city by night. It had long been agreed that the rebels should rise the instant that rockets were sent up. This was expected at any moment in view of their studied policy of personal abuse heaped upon any and all American soldiers and officers.

The Americans, obeying strict orders, did not return physical retaliation for the rude jostling and vile words that harassed them day after day, both inside and outside the city. The Filipinos then concluded that the Americans were cowards and could be easily defeated. Open assaults on members of the Nebraska volunteer regiment, which was then in camp on the east line of Santa Mesa on the outskirts of Manila, and attempts to push back our outposts at the San Juan bridge, which divides the city of Manila from the province of Rizal, were common occurrences right up to the opening battle on the night of February 4. A Filipino lieutenant had been in the habit of threatening the American sentry at this post, which was No. 2. On this particular night he approached in the darkness with a detail of six men. Private Grayson, company D, First Nebraska volunteers, was on duty there. The native party continued to advance despite repeated challenges. Grayson then fired, killing the lieutenant. That shot started the insular war.

The Filipinos sent rockets aloft at once, the other pickets of the American outpost No. 2 fired a volley, which was returned by the natives on the other side of the San Juan river. Firing then became general all along the line. This fusilade continued until midnight, and there were a number of skirmishes. There was a lull until 4 a. m. when the Filipinos again began firing, extending their line of fire until it encircled Manila. This fire was returned, supplemented at last by a concerted advance movement which drove the rebels back several miles to Caloocan and other points. The American loss was not heavy but the Filipinos suffered casualties of several hundred in dead and wounded. Two days later word was received that the United States senate had finally ratified the Treaty of Paris which formally turned the islands over the United States for the sum of $20,000,000 United States currency.

The next movement came on the night of February 28, when 500 insurgents invaded Tondo, a densely populated district of Manila. They set fire to the houses of their own people and fired on the American sentries. They expected the local militia to assist them, and the plan was to massacre all the whites, and some of the most fanatic wanted to treat the thousands of mestizos (half-caste Filipino-Spaniards) in the same way. An exceedingly vigorous counter attack directed by Provost Marshal General Hughes resulted in the speedy retreat of the force, with whom the militia in the city failed to cooperate at that time.

In the meantime President McKinley had sent out the Schurmann commission in an attempt to find out just what the situation was. They reached Manila on March 4 and found a very bad state of affairs. They themselves were guarded constantly. Incendiary fires occurred daily. The streets were almost deserted, and filth and disease reigned more absolute than ever before. Half of the native population had taken to the woods long ago, and those who remained behind did so behind closed windows and barred doors. Nobody knew who was who. The few Filipinos who dared espouse the American cause were in hourly fear of assassination. With their assistance the commission drew up and issued the proclamation of explanation and amity of April 4 which is supposed to have had considerable to do with the ultimate establishment of peace. This point has always been disputed, however. Most military men who were in the islands at that time contend that the early activities of both the Schurmann and Taft commissions, instead of doing great good, operated to prevent the army from speedily terminating the insurrection.

It has always been maintained by the Schurmann commission and its many followers that their proclamations and subsequent trips to different parts of the islands prevented the revolution from becoming a national one. Certainly it is true that organized revolution made headway only on the island of Luzon. Here it appears to have been confined to the Tagalog provinces of Manila, Cavite, Batangas, Laguna, Nueva Ecija, Zambales and the district of Morong, Principe and Infanta. In the other provinces the rebels were hated and feared, for the people there suffered greater taxation and more personal abuse from the Aguinaldo "government" than they ever had from the Spaniards. Some went so far as to appeal to the Americans for help. The disturbances among the Visayans and the Moros of Mindanao were local affairs, due to bandagandage and were in no way connected with the Tagalog revolt.

Matters drifted along month after month. Both armies operated against each other constantly, but mostly in scattered engagements. The Filipinos seldom won, though they proved brave and resourceful foes. Let no one get the idea that the Filipino will not or can not fight. The delays and interruptions were to the advantage of the Americans, as troops were being landed in shiploads nearly every week or so. A decisive victory was scored in December by General MacArthur in the capture of Malolos, the headquarters of Aguinaldo. A stiff resistance was offered by General Luna, one of his tactics being the burning of entire villages of his own people. The object of this inhuman procedure was to compel the people to flee before the Americans in order that they might not learn the baseness of the constantly repeated assertion of the rebel leaders that the Americans were monsters who ate babies alive and practiced other forms of hideous cruelty and unnatural vices. Upon the capture of Malolos, Aguinaldo fled to the mountain fastness of the Igorots, at Cervantes, in northern Luzon.

Aguinaldo was captured over a year later, on March 23, 1901, by General Frederick Funston. He and the Hazzard brothers, officers in the state of Washington regiment, and two or three others, pretended to be captives, and as such they were led to Aguinaldo's retreat. As soon as the Filipino general appeared at the window of his house to look over his captives he was fired upon by the supposed prisoners, and in a few minutes the entire camp was in General Funston's hands.

The Right Course

(New York World.)

If the Democrats of the United States senate are not bound by platforms and pledges, no action by a caucus can commit them.

For almost a generation they have been promising to take the greed and graft out of the tariff. On that issue they have carried three presidential elections, elected a majority of the house of representatives seven times and a majority of the senate twice.

It has never been supposed that any tax bill that could be drawn would be precisely to the taste of everybody. No well informed person can have imagined that the party's will could by any possibility be made effective without arousing local alarms and protests on the part of interests affected.

Experience has shown that the people's burdens cannot be lightened unless Democrats co-operate loyally. It was by coalition on the part of self-seekers, by log-rolling, trading and dickering of every description, that these unmerciful exactions were made in the first place. If those who have been commissioned to put an end to them cannot work in harmony, hope of reform may as well be abandoned.

Most Democratic senators do not need caucus support. Some honest men among them resent it. Those whose faithfulness it is thought may be strengthened by it are not to be depended upon. Men who will not obey the people will not heed a caucus. Men whose word is not good at home are not likely to keep faith in Washington. The right course has therefore been taken. A binding resolution gives way to one which presses upon all Democratic senators the duty of giving undivided support to the bill.

The less we hear about the caucus and the more that is said about personal and party honor the better it will be for all concerned.

Justice to Venus and the Moon

How man has libeled those two fairest of heavenly queens, Venus and Diana! "Oh, swear not by the moon, the inconstant moon." That appellation of Juliet will survive as long as our satellite itself shall swing in perfect constancy across the sky. For unlike the giddy earth, everlastingly changing face in its course around the sun, the moon as it whirls around its controlling body, gazes down on it with an absorption that is quite lunatic in its fixedness. For always it is the same face staring down upon us and what is at the back of Diana's head we never shall know if we wait for her to turn it. Surely the ancients were more fair in assigning to her the attribute of chastity than the Shakespearean in railing at her for inconstancy just because out of Celestial modesty she sometimes veils her face.

But for Venus none had a good word to say until the scientists took her under close observation. Donald P. Beard, in an article in the Star the other day, was less concerned with vindication of the goddess than with the discussion of possible organic life on the planet. But he mentioned incidentally that Venus has one face only for the sun, astronomers declare, everlastingly turning a glacial and invisible back on the rest of the universe.

So vanishes at one time our modern libel on these sisters and their extreme disparity of temperament that caused so much trouble in classical family life.—Kansas City Star.

The Call of the Wild

Bisley, a large Airedale dog, owned by W. H. Reber, of Butte, was killed while leading a pack of wolves near Red Lodge. Three wolves were shot at the same time. The following story can be verified in every detail and proves that London's "Call of the Wild" is not altogether fiction.

Bisley was the special property of Edward, W. H. Reber's son, and was kept on the Reber ranch. "He was the best hunter I have ever seen," said the young man. "I have been out with him many times in a boat on Rosebud Lake. The ducks would no sooner drop in the water than Bisley was out of the boat and after them. Late last winter he disappeared. A few weeks prior to that he would go off in the woods, sometimes staying away whole days. Then he vanished altogether. I thought he had attacked a cougar and got the worst of it."

John Dunn had been troubled with prowling wolves the last few months. He saw the pack several times and told of a strange looking light-brown wolf that led the bunch. He believed that if he could get the leader the wolves would cease their daring attacks upon his stock.

At last Mr. Dunn and several cowboys started after the bunch. They hunted most of the day, setting snares. The pack was rounded up and four of the animals fell. The leader was the first one shot, as Mr. Dunn was particularly anxious to get him. When Mr. Dunn reached the carcass he picked up, instead of a wolf, an unusually large Airedale dog. It was Bisley, all right. A collar was still around his neck and the name of the owner on the brass tag.—Butte (Mont.) Dispatch to the New York World.

When Flowers Toil

However fine and dainty a flower may look, it is pressed to do a great service and its colors and forms are all suited to its work. It must bring forth the fruit, or the continuity of plant life will be broken and the earth will be turned into a desert ere long.

The color and the smell of the flower are all for some purpose, therefore no sooner is it fertilized by the bee, no sooner does the time of fruition arrive, than it sheds its exquisite petals and a cruel economy compels it to give up its sweetest perfume. It has no time to flaunt its finery, for it is busy beyond measure.

Viewed from without, necessity seems to be the only factor in nature, for which everything works and moves. There the bud develops into the flower, the flower into the fruit, the fruit into the seed, the seed into a new plant again, and so forth, the chain of activity running on unbroken. Should there crop up any disturbance or impediment, no excuse would be accepted and the unfortunate thing so choked in its movement would at once be labelled as rejected, and be bound to die and disappear post haste.

In the great office of nature there are innumerable departments with endless work going on, and the fine flower that you behold there, gaudily attired and scented like a dandy, is by no means what it appears to be, but rather is like a laborer toiling in the sun and shower, who has to submit a clear account of his work, and has no breathing space to enjoy himself in a playful frolic.—Rabindranath Tagore in the Atlantic Monthly.

Brindejonc des Moulinais

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

We are living, as Prof. Longfellow observed, in a grand and awful time.

Hardly a day passes that some record is not smashed.

If Poe were here he could add a deal more items to his tale of the thousand-and-one nights' wonders of this age of achievement.

Some time ago they communicated all one night by wireless between Washington, D. C. and Paris, France. Transatlantic cables may be amazing, but the use the viewless air across the world is super-amazing.

Thirty to sixty horsepower automobiles are thick in the city streets; huge engines of a power undreamed of by our fathers.

Trolley cars speed along the highways, propelled by a force which a generation or two ago was but the object of superstitious dread.

I remember in my youth reading a novel by Maurice Jokai, in which he described an imaginary electric light. What was a romancer's fantasy has become a common utility.

Telephones transmit the very voice, and phonographs preserve it.

The moving picture film will keep for posterity the actual faces and gestures of the people of today, instead of by a package of yellowed letters, our children may call us to mind by our actual counterfeit presentments.

The air is full of the crash of power presses, factories, express trains, taxi horns.

Office buildings arise, mountain masses of steel and glass, cathedrals of business, temples of activity that outshine the shrine of Diana of the Ephesians.

The huge Imperator, the last miracle of the sea, has just visited our shores.

Zeppelin is carrying passengers in luxury on his dirigible.

And now comes the feat of Brindejonc des Moulinais, the French aviator, who in his 80-horsepower flying machine Nieuport started from Paris at 3:57 o'clock in the morning, landed and lunched at Berlin at 11 o'clock, and went to Warsaw, arriving there at 7:15 p. m. the same day.

His speed from Paris to Berlin averaged about 115 miles an hour, which is explained by the fact that a good part of the trip he rode literally upon the wings of the storm. A violent tempest overtook him, but the dauntless aviator rode on.

"Frightful gusts of wind gripped my machine," he said, "so that I had to hang on to the apparatus to keep from being thrown from my seat. However, I am proud to say I broke the record, although at times I thought it was my bones that would be broken."

This he said at Berlin. Undaunted, he resumed his journey from there, in spite of a gale of wind and rain, and whirled away to Warsaw.

The Morane-Saulnier monoplane, upon which he rode, may not be the greatest of those inventions whereby man has mastered wild nature, but it is certainly one of the most striking and dramatic.

Quips and Quiddities

One of the things which helps swell the travelers expenses, both in this country and abroad, is the "extra." It may or may not be charged in the bill, but it is sure to be paid for. Probably even the most generous traveler, however, will have some sympathy for the gentleman in the following story, who was made to pay liberally for a certain annoying privilege.

During his stay at the hotel the weather had been very hot.

"Charles," said the landlord to the clerk who was making out the bill to be presented to the departing guest, "have you noticed that the gentleman in No. 7 has consulted the thermometer on the piazza at least ten times every morning during his stay here?"

Charles replied that he had.

"Well," said the landlord, "charge him the price of one dinner a day for the use of the thermometer."—Youth's Companion.

"Charles," said a sharp voiced woman to her husband in a railway car, "do you know that you and I once had a romance in a railway car?"

"Never heard of it," replied Charles, in a subdued tone.

"I thought you hadn't. But don't you remember it was that pair of slippers I presented to you the Christmas before we were married that led to our union? You remember how nicely they fitted, don't you? Well, Charles, one day when we were going to a picnic you had your feet upon a seat and when you weren't looking I took your measure. But for that pair of slippers I don't believe we'd ever been married."

A young unmarried man, sitting by, immediately took his feet from a seat.

It was an arduous task for the teacher to drum into her youthful pupils the principles of arithmetic.

"Now, listen," she said. "In order to subtract, things have to be in the same denomination. This is what I mean: Now, you couldn't take three apples from four peaches, nor eight marbles from twelve buttons. It must be three apples from four apples, and so on.

The majority seemed to grasp the idea. One perky little youngster in the rear, however, raised a timid hand.

"Please, teacher," he inquired, "couldn't you take three quarts of milk from two cows?"

"I'm pulling down the Episcopal church," replied Pat, "and I'm gettin' paid for it."—Everybody's Magazine.

SUFFRAGISTS TO THANK LEGISLATORS FOR HALL

No Split in State Organization at Meeting—Mrs. McLendon Again President

Georgia's woman suffragists adjourned their 1913 state meeting in the house of representatives at the capitol, Thursday night, with thanks to the legislature for the courtesies that had been extended to them. The convention had dispatched its business at the morning and afternoon sessions Thursday in Labor temple on Trinity avenue, electing officers in the afternoon. The night session was devoted to speeches.

No split in the ranks of the state association developed, notwithstanding prior promises of opposition from some members of the Atlanta Civic league.

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, of Atlanta, was re-elected president of the association, and Decatur was selected as the place for holding the 1914 meeting.

Steps to establish the legal status of the association as a Georgia corporation recognized by the courts were taken at the afternoon session at the instance of Leonard J. Grossman, legal adviser of the organization. A petition will be filed soon to incorporate it.

Following is the full list of officers elected Thursday:

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president.

Miss S. A. Gresham, first vice president.

Miss H. Augusta Howard, second vice president.

Miss Katherine Koch, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. A. B. Daniels, recording secretary.

Mrs. Amelia Woodall, treasurer.

Mrs. Mary K. Matthews, auditor.

PATTERSON SAYS HOWARD ASKED NEGRO'S PAROLE

Card Writer Interceded for Prisoner Then Criticised Gov., Says Commissioner

Replying to the card of criticism written by S. M. Howard, of Barnesville, relative to the pardon of Tony Howard, a paroled negro convict, Judge T. E. Patterson, of the state prison commission, says that the criticism has done former Governor Brown an injustice.

Following is Judge Patterson's reply:

"Editor Atlanta Journal: In The Journal of Wednesday appears a communication signed by S. M. Howard, of Barnesville, Ga., in reference to the pardon by former Governor Brown of Tony Hightower that does Governor Brown an injustice.

"The facts are these, that Tony Hightower and two other negroes were paroled by Governor Slaton in January, 1912, largely on the showing and representation by Mr. Howard, the author of this card, and other citizens of Barnesville, one of whom was H. H. Gray, making it extremely doubtful that the negroes were guilty of the crime charged, that of robbery. Tony Hightower was paroled to H. H. Gray. Under the parole law the employer has to make reports monthly to this commission during the term of his parole. These reports were made until October, 1912, which was the last report filed by them, and in this report it was stated that the general conduct and association during the parole period of the prisoner, Hightower, was good. This was certified to by H. H. Gray, and the further certificate was that the prisoner has been honest, industrious and temperate. This was the last report received in our office concerning this prisoner, although Mr. Gray claims that after this he reported that Hightower had left him. This report was not received in this office, and our clerk wrote to Mr. Gray repeatedly and asked for reports on this prisoner and received no reply from him.

"In February of this year we had Mr. Gardiner, our parole clerk, to make up a list of all the paroled prisoners who had been out on parole more than a year and whose conduct was good and who were worthy of being discharged on final pardon. Mr. Gardiner in making up the list included Tony Hightower as one of those to be recommended for pardon and the recommendation was duly made by our commision, and when reached by Governor Brown was approved by him and the pardon issued in due course.

"This is all there is to it and no censure is to be attached to anybody. Even if the prisoner had left Mr. Gray, if he was innocent as Mr. Howard claimed at the time of the original parole, he should not have been sent back in the penitentiary for breaking his parole.

"Yours very truly,

"T. E. PATTERSON,
"Commissioner."

SHE'S AN ATLANTA-MADE MERMAID

MRS. Hubert J. Hossbein, an Atlanta bride who formerly was Miss Madeline Arnold and who now is one of the crack swimmers who learned their first paddling lessons in Piedmont Park lake. Among the women swimmers at Piedmont she is rated one of the best. She can swim like a duck. The whole lake is none too big for her. And yet she did not learn to swim a stroke until last summer. She loves the water, and for that reason she never grew tired of trying to swim. That is why she has become so proficient in less than a year.

The popularity of Piedmont lake is growing every day. From early in the morning until late in the afternoon the water is swarming with young and old. All Atlanta is learning to swim, and among those who take a daily plunge at Piedmont the young women and girls seem to get the greatest fun out of the sport. With Piedmont lake open to all and East Lake and the Capital City Country club lake at Brookhaven free to their members, the city is now fairly well provided with swimming waters, and there is no reason why any Atlantian should not become a proficient swimmer.

AMERICAN BOOK CO. HAS NO "LOBBY," SAYS AGENT

A. H. Branham, in Card, Asserts Company Will Not Try to Influence Book Bills

Editor The Atlanta Journal: In a number of articles which appeared in The Journal recently, relating to the McCrory bill the name of the American Book company has frequently appeared as though that company were the only publisher that had contracts for supply books in Georgia. Unfortunately for this company, the facts are quite different. The publishers holding contracts with the state are as follows:

Readers—W. H. Wheeler & Co. (primer), Charles E. Merrill Co. (two books), American Book Co. (three books).

Arithmetics—Ginn & Co.

Geographies—Ginn & Co.

Grammars—D. C. Heath & Co., Newson & Co.

Agriculture—Charles E. Merrill Co.

History—Southern Publishing Co., American Book Co.

Physiology and Hygiene—Silver, Burdett & Co., Charles E. Merrill Co.

Writing—Central School Supply Co.

Spellers—B. F. Johnson Publishing Co., American Book Co.

Other houses may have contracts for some subjects, but the above are the principal contracting publishers.

Will you be good enough to take notice that the American Book company does not maintain any lobby at Atlanta, and has no agents or attorneys acting in its behalf before the legislature, nor will it engage in any lobbying for or against the McCrory bill.

I feel sure that The Journal can have no motive in misrepresenting this company, and therefore will be glad to give suitable publicity to this communication.

CITIZENSHIP CONFERENCE TO FAVOR DRESS REFORM

Civic Leaguers Plan Big Convention for Atlanta in September

Plans are under way headed by S. T. Nicholson, the general secretary of the Civic League of America, for the convention of the Southern Christian Citizenship conference at the auditorium on September 19-20-21, inclusive. The convention will be held under the auspices of the Civic League of America, of which the Rev. A. R. Holderby is president, and R. S. Thompson, of Ohio, vice president.

Secretary Nicholson has prepared a tentative list of speakers who will be invited to address the convention. Men of national repute are included in the group, which includes Lincoln McConnell, the evangelist; Dr. Len G. Broughton, Richmond Pearson Hobson, Secretary William J. Bryan and President Wilson.

A strong list of addresses has been made out, and it is to be noticed that included in the list are such subjects as "Reform in Dress," "Prison Reform," "Peace and Arbitration," "The Moral Evolution of a City," "Crime and Lawlessness," "The Sabbath," "Social Purity," "Child Labor," and "The Family."

"ALONG BROADWAY" VISITS FEDERAL PENITENTIARY

The prisoners in the Atlanta federal penitentiary have been treated to various concerts, grand opera performances and minstrel shows, but not until Thursday morning did they ever have the pleasure of witnessing real tabloid musical comedy.

The company playing "Along Broadway" at the Bijou theater this week went out to the penitentiary and presented one of its best performances. The men thoroughly enjoyed the songs and the jokes and will not soon forget the kindness of the actors.

MAYOR HAS VETOED TAX OFFICE MERGER

Fight Over the Organization of Important Department Goes Back to Council

The merger of the city tax office passed by council last Monday was vetoed by Mayor Woodward Thursday afternoon, on the ground that the present organization of the office is thoroughly effective, that it is economical and that the people should continue to have the right of appeal from tax assessments.

The resolution merging the office and placing the three tax assessors in full authority was introduced by a majority of the tax committee, and Alderman J. R. Nutting led the fight for its passage.

Opposed to the resolution were Councilman C. W. Smith, the chairman of the tax committee, and Councilman Orville H. Hall, a member of the committee.

Alderan Nutting will lead a fight to override the mayor's veto.

CANDLER COUNTY TO BE FAVORED BY COMMITTEE

Evans, Hampton and Stonewall Projects Turned Down Cold by House Members

Favorable recommendation for the creation of one more new county and adverse reports on the creation of three others will be submitted to the house of representatives by the house committee on constitutional amendments, Friday morning.

Candler county, for and against which elements were heard last Tuesday afternoon when the fight for Barrow and Stonewall counties was made, has been approved. Bills seeking to create Evans, Hampton and Stonewall counties were unfavorably acted upon.

When the committee met to consider the county propositions of Evans, Hampton and Treutlen, the house chamber was crowded with delegates from these counties along with representatives of Candler and Stonewall, action upon the latter two having been deferred until citizens of Tatnall had been heard from.

CANDLER COUNTY.

The new county of Candler, with Metter as the county seat, if created by the legislature, will be made of parts of Bulloch, Emanuel and Tatnall counties. Evans county sought to take a slice from Tatnall and Bulloch counties, while both Hampton and Stonewall asked for practically the same teritory awarded Candler by the committee.

Candler county advocates have been in Atlanta since early in the week, all wearing ribbons proclaiming their allegiance to the new proposition, and working unceasingly for the county and the thriving litle town of Metter, where the court house will be located.

The commitee thus far has reported favorably on Barrow and Candler, the former having been confirmed by the house Thursday. Evans, Hampton and Stonewall have been killed and the fate of Treutlen still is to be settled. Final action on this question was deferred until next Tuesday in order to allow certain opponents who came in too late Thursday, thirty minutes in which to make their arguments.

ADVOCATE GRIGGS COUNTY.

A delegation seeking the creation of Griggs county with Doe Run as the county seat, and Atkinson county, with Willacoochee as its center, will be heard from also on Tuesday.

It was intimated Thursday by Shelby Myrick, of Chatham, chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments, that unless more progress was made, it would be necessary to have morning sessions in order to dispense with the consideration of other bills referred to them and which had not been touched owing to the time consumed in considering the numerous new county matters.

REV. ALEX W. BEALER IN ATLANTA ON BRIEF VISIT

Rev. Alex W. Bealer, pastor of the First Baptist church of Eastman, Ga., was in Atlanta Friday on his way home from Georgetown, Ky., where he lectured at the Baptist assembly. He was joined in this city by his brother, P. M. Bealer, of Washington, D. C.

OGLESBY'S RESIGNATION FROM CENTRAL IS FILLED

At the quarterly meeting of the directors of the Central of Georgia railway in Savannah Wednesday two elections were held to fill vacancies in the board, one of which was left vacant by the resignation last December of J. G. Oglesby, of Atlanta.

Mr. Oglesby resigned owing to the fact that he found it impossible to attend to his business interests in Atlanta and do justice to the road as one of its directors at the same time.

The men elected were W. H. Pleasants, of New York, and George T. Tiedman, of Savannah. Only routine business was transacted at the meeting further than naming the two new directors.

Mr. Bealer spent many years here and has hundreds of friends in the city who are always delighted to see him.

You Folks Who Want Your Town to Grow--

DISEASE and poverty are twin-brothers to insanitary living-conditions.

Sickness cripples the working and earning capacity. Then follows poverty and distress. This means trouble for everybody.

Is your town clean and healthy? Is it disease-proof so far as correct sanitation can make it so?

Is the water-supply free from contamination?

Remember that a breeding-place of disease may be a scourge to your town. And remember, too, that such a scourge may take toll of your own home.

Our specialty is SANITARY ENGINEERING.

We have cleaned up and straightened out more than 300 towns. We have shown them beyond the shadow of a doubt that improvements are the best investment they ever made.

We want to improve your town and we can show you that it will pay you well from every point of view.

A town that is insanitary, unsightly, inconvenient and unattractive will never draw new population to itself.

More than that: it won't hold its present population. The young fellows growing up, the enlightened men and women are not going to stay where the conditions are bad and out-of-date.

Does your town want to grow? If it does and if YOU are concerned to have it grow the right way, write to us. We will give you all the information you want.

We plan, construct, finance and operate sanitary systems, water and power plants, paving and all municipal improvements. We can show you a big and successful record of our achievements.

The Suits Desirable In Summer Time

The summer suit question at issue is that of the perfect fabric which serves, thru its loose weave, to invite the breeze without a sacrifice of trimness.

Hard twisted worsted yarn is the certain weave, however loosely it may be done, to assure this. And this is crash.

We have this true summer friend, the crash suit, in gray, tan and blue. They combine the essentials that make the hot weather bearable and the breezy appearance which adds a charm to the tropical attractions of the summer season.

$25 and $27.50

Fine tropical worsteds, handsome grays, $25.

Priestley's mohair, blue, black, brown and gray, with self or contrasting stripes $20 to $27.50

Wash Suits of Palm Beach cloth, tan and gray, $7.50.

Week-End House Party

A party of young people will go to Tallulah Saturday to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., and Miss Adgate Ellis for the week-end at their attractive summer home.

In the party will be Miss Adgate Ellis, Miss Margaret Grant, Miss Eula Jackson, Miss Marjorie Brown, Miss Bessie Jones, Miss Harriet Calhoun, Miss Laura Cobb Hutchins, of Athens; Mr. Edward Alfriend, Mr. Marvin Adair, Mr. Edward Alsop, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. Floyd McRae, Mr. Dan McDougald, Mr. Walter Colquitt, Mr. Arthur Clarke and Mr. Bowie Martin.

Miss McCarty's Dinner

Miss Helen McCarty will be hostess at a delightful little dinner party this evening at her home on Piedmont avenue, the guests to include Miss Louise Broyles, Miss Isabel Robinson, Miss Mignon McCarty, Mr. Robert Foreman, Mr. Clark Howell, Mr. Edwin Broyles and Mr. William Dickey.

Buffet Supper

Miss Annie Hornady will entertain informally at a buffet supper this evening in honor of Misses Bessie and Daisy Butler, of Madison, and Mr. McCrory, of Ellaville.

Miss Kimball to Entertain

Miss Reita Kimball will entertain thirty guests Saturday afternoon at Ne-Ca-Nauta, the country home of her uncles, Mr. Walter Brown and Mr. Leonard Brown. The party will be chaperoned by Miss Kimball's mother, Mrs. W. H. Chase and Miss Cora Brown.

Afternoon Tea At Piedmont Club

Mrs. Charles Remsen entertained at a delightful little tea this afternoon at the Piedmont club in honor of Mrs. William Tilt, of New York. Tea was served on the terrace, the sixteen guests seated at two tables, each having a lovely decoration in gladioli and phlox, the pretty flowers in harmony with the smartly gowned women seated about the tables.

Mrs. Remsen wore a becoming gown of white embroidered crepe and a Panama hat trimmed with purple ribbon.

Mrs. Tilt also wore white, and with her lovely blonde coloring was a charming contrast to her dark-haired hostess.

Mrs. W. W. Gray, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Alex W. Smith, was the honor guest at a congenial party entertained on the ball room porch overlooking the park.

Mrs. Gray will leave soon for Linville, N. C., with Colonel Gray and Miss Agnes Gray to spend the rest of the summer.

Mrs. Cam Dorsey was hostess at a congenial party at which Mrs. W. F. Shallenberger was the honor guest.

Mrs. Shallenberger was formerly Miss Laura Boyd, of Savannah, and has been cordially welcomed by the friends who knew her before her marriage as well as by those Dr. Shallenberger has made during his residence here.

Miss Pollock's Afternoon Tea

An event of Friday afternoon was the tea at which Miss Madge Pollock was hostess in compliment to the members of the house party which Miss Dodo White is entertaining at "Woodshack," the country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woods White.

Gold and white were the colors used in the decoration of the home, and were evidenced in the jardinieres holding quantities of goldenglow and in the crystal vases filled with handsome dahlias which ornamented the rooms.

The same colors were used in the dining room, and the color suggestion was continued in the ices and bonbons. Miss Pollock was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by a group of young girls.

The young hostess wore a pretty gown of white lace draped over gold-colored satin. Little Miss Margaret Elder and Miss Elizabeth Goldsmith, who assisted in entertaining, wore white lingerie frocks with wide yellow satin sashes.

In the receiving party were Miss Dodo White and her guests, Miss Helen Dunn, of Lake Providence, La.; Miss Elizabeth Stubbs, of Shreveport, La.; Miss Cleta Slagle, of Clarkes, La., and Miss Alma Byrnes, of Birmingham; Miss Nina Neel, Miss Marion Neel, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Ruth Reid, Miss Marie Cobb, Miss Harriet Haynes, Miss M. A. Lindsay, Miss Martha Smith, Miss Ruth Cocke, Miss Amelia Smith, Miss Frances Bailey.

Dinner Dance at Country Club

The dinner dance at the Capital City Country club assembled numbers of congenial parties at the club for Thursday evening, the affair being the second in the series which will be weekly events at the Country club.

Mrs. William Tilt, of New York, was the honor guest in the party entertained by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kiser, the other guests being Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Dickey, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell, Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Kiser and Mr. James H. Nunnally.

Mr. Edward Alfriend entertained a party of friends at dinner, the party including Miss Adgate Ellis, Miss Margaret Grant, Miss Eula Jackson, Miss Bessie May Ottley, Bowie Martin, Mr. Edward Alsop, Washington, D. C.; Mr. Floyd McRae and Mr. and Mrs. Winship Nunnally.

Among others dining at the club were Miss Nancy Primer, Miss Jennie D. Harris, Miss Emma Kate Amorous, Miss Caroline Guise, Miss Mary Hines, Miss Lyda Nash, Miss Ethel Williamson, Miss Ethel Harrison, of Fort McPherson; Mr. and Mrs. William Schoder, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips McDuffie, Mr. and Mrs. George Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Peel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little, Mr. Eugene Haynes, Mr. William McBrayer, Mr. Lee Harvey, Mr. Kenneth McRae, Mr. Strother Fleming, Mr. Norman Canton, Mr. Baskerville, Mr. Hall Miller, Lieutenant King and Lieutenant Harrison.

To Miss Mayer

Miss Rose Hestley entertained delightfully Thursday evening in honor of Miss Aurelia Mayer, of Newberry, S. C.

The house was beautifully decorated with roses and ferns. Games were enjoyed until a late hour, when ices were served.

The guests included Miss Maude Boozer, Miss Ethelyn M. White, Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Aurelia Mayer, Miss Eunice Thomas, Miss Eunice White, Miss Edna Hunnicutt, Miss Rose Hestley, Mr. William Hestley, Mr. Jared Johnson, Mr. Hubert Acuff, Mr. Westley Corey, Mr. Hugh Lyle, Mr. Albert Hestley, Mr. Luther Hestley, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hestley, Mr. and Mrs. James Mayer and Mrs. Mayer.

MISS MABEL LEE PRICE.

Miss Price is the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Price, and a gifted pupil of Miss Mabel D. McIver. At a recent recital given by Miss McIver's class Miss Price rendered several numbers on the very interesting program, at the close of which this young musician was awarded a handsome gold medal, having made highest average for the year's work.

A YOUNG MUSICIAN

What Anne Ritten-house Says

Among the new summer coats which women like, are those of satin or fancy silk matelasse, which have extra broad lines across the figure and a pannier effect at the hips. This sounds like a description of the short evening coats which were worn throughout the spring but they do not look like them in reality.

The pannier coat is worn with skirt to match, or skirts that do not match, and are not intended as wraps, but as part of a suit. The fashion for placing a plain coat over a plaid or striped or checked skirt, has been so commonized that a fastidious woman hesitates to embark on such a venture. Yet, the fashion has many points of merit in it, and is an acceptable change after the suits that we have worn for decades. It may be that the fashion will take a new hold on life in October after everyone has wearied of it in the cheaper grade of ready-to-wear clothes. This you know, is often the case.

It is not necesary to wear this little new coat with a skirt of another fabric and color. It is quite as good with a skirt of its own material, but it must not be worn by a woman with slender hips; the measurement of her waist does not count. One cannot deny that a garment which is laid in wide folds around the hips will increase the size and throw a woman's silhouette out of harmonious proportions. One must be slim to copy.

The majority of modern women are so slender, however, through corseting, dieting, corrective exercises or nature, that one no longer hesitates to suggest a style that is only for the slim.

Fanciful New Coats.

The straight up and down jacket and the straight long cutaway one are not approved for this summer. They have had their day and it is a good one and they may return to favor, but at the present moment—and one only lives in the moment in the world of clothes—the jacket is a short affair that is more or less cutaway in front, but usually has a belt, a shaped peplum, and loose sleeves with lowered armholes.

These features make it somewhat shapely, and yet a well made garment of this character has character and fits in very well with the comfortable style of dressing that governs the summer. Silk is exceedingly fashionable for such coats and it is good even when made with a thin lining.

The cotton fabric, such as ratine, eponge, matelasse, and crash, are more suitable than silk for skirts of similar material, but they are not as cool. Women have found out to their cost that gowns in any of these materials are not especially comfortable on warm or sultry days. A really sensible choice is to get good Chinese Shantung which is silky, durable, and exceedingly cool. It comes in a variety of colors and one can indulge in any riot of this kind that the season allows.

Worn With Cotton Skirts.

Women have found that such a coat is a good addition to the wardrobe in the hot summer months, because it gives them a chance to wear their white cotton or linen skirts and white muslin shirt waists when a somewhat more formal method of dress is necessary. One does not always wish to go out without some kind of jacket as the negligee blouse and short skirt is too informal for the streets of a large city or for afternoon occasions; the addition of a coat twists the costume at once into something worth while.

The extensive use to which women are now putting fancy vests gives one another chance to be cool in a coat suit. These little garments are of net, flowered crepe, figured muslin and lace. They have no sleeves and they are finished with a narrow collar and a frill down the front, and are sometimes tucked and run with insertion, then fastened with paste pearl buttons. They make a shirt waist unnecessary if one is not going to remove the coat, and, therefore, they save laundry bills while they add to one's comfort.

WEDDINGS

Pendleton-Armstrong

A pretty wedding of Wednesday afternoon was that of Miss Nell Pendleton and Mr. James Armstrong, which was solemnized at the Jackson Hill Baptist church, Rev. J. J. Bennett officiating.

The church was decorated with palms and other plants which made an effective setting for the bridal party.

Mr. Harry Massengale rendered a musical program during the ceremony.

Miss Ethel Pendleton was her sister's maid of honor and wore a lace gown with girdle picture hat and slippers of pink. In her arms she carried a bouquet of bridesmaid's buds.

Little Misses Mary and Margaret Anderson, of Athens, were attractive flower maids, wearing dainty lingerie dresses and carrying baskets filled with rose petals. The baskets were garlanded with feathery ferns and the tall handles tied with bows of pink tulle. The rose petals were scattered down the aisles in the pathway of the bride.

Henry Smith wore an embroidered suit of white, carrying his aunt's wedding ring in the heart of a long stemmed white rosebud.

Mr. Lovick Burnley was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Louis Pendleton, of St. Louis; Mr. W. Raymond Massengale, Jr., R. T. Burnley and Mr. John Waterhouse.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. Henry Clay Pendleton.

She wore a traveling suit of blue with a hat to match trimmed with rosebuds. Her bouquet was a shower of bride's rosebuds.

After a wedding journey of several weeks Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will be at home at "Fair Lawn," Clarkston.

Black-Bridges

Miss Julia C. Bridges and Mr. Arthur Frank Black, of Palmyra, Va., were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's mother in West End. The Rev. C. V. Weathers, pastor of the East Atlanta Methodist church, officiated.

The wedding was quiet, only a few friends and relatives witnessing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bridges left after the ceremony for Washington, D. C., and other cities.

They will make their home in Virginia.

Ernest-Speight

The wedding of Miss Julia Aileen Ernest and Mr. Frank Speight, of Thomasville, was solemnized Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles E. Brown, on Rogers avenue, Vineville.

Dr. J. L. White, pastor of the Vineville Avenue Baptist church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Ruth Toole was maid of honor, and Mr. Louis Edwards, of Norman Park, was best man.

Little Miss Gladys Baynard, of Dublin, and Miss Aileen Brown, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. George Baynard, of Dublin; Mrs. Clarence Foster, of Milledgeville; Mrs. A. V. Toole, of Forsyth; Miss Maud Speight, of Thomasville; Miss Sara McDowell, of Valdosta; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edwards, of Norman Park.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Thomasville, where they will make their home.

Cooper-Foreacre

Mrs. E. G. Foreacre announces the marriage of her daughter, Eula, to Mr. Charles Cooper, of Commerce, Ga., the marriage having taken place in Monroe, Ga., on July 1.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Duckett announce the marriage of their daughter, Essie, to Mr. Robert Ridley Cameron, July 6, at the home of the bride, Dr. Ridley officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron left immediately for LaGrange, the home of the groom, and after a few days will be at home to their friends at 292 South Pryor street.

Afternoon Party

An event of Thursday afternoon was the party given by Miss Almeta Jackson at her home on Myrtle street.

The veranda was artistically decorated with palms and growing plants and here a merry contest was enjoyed by the children, the first prize in which was won by Miss Catherine Donnelly and the consolation by Miss Helen Nesbit.

Punch was served during the afternoon from a flower-wreathed bowl by Miss Sarah Robertson, and Miss Sarah Eubanks. Miss Jackson received lingerie gowns, being a pretty lingerie gown combined with lace and was assisted in the entertainment by her guests by Miss Marguerite Adams, of West Point.

The guests present were Miss Katherine Turner, Miss Nevada Turner, Miss Marion Dean, Marie Miss Stoddard, Miss Helen Crawford, Miss Ardella Andrews, Miss Elizabeth Downing, Miss Helen Brown, Miss Evelyn Roberts, Miss Bermice Jackson, Miss Alline Cassidy, Miss Helen Tucker, Miss Virginia Walker, Miss Sarah Robertson, Miss Sarah Eubanks, Miss Ellen Donnelly, Miss Catherine Donnelly, Miss Alma Boone, Miss Elizabeth Floding, Miss Mary Floding, Miss Ida Brittain, Miss Annie Dow Wurm, Miss Helen Nesbit, Miss Lucile Young, Miss Elizabeth Walker, Miss Cornelia Walker.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots, How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength from Jacobs' Pharmacy and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—(Advt.)

A great deal is said in a disparaging way about the modern tendency toward specialization.

The time was when barbers were also doctors; when you could get a man who would pull your tooth or shoe your horse with equal willingness; when a woman, wanting the ruffles for her underskirt "pinked," would take them to the undertaker to be done.

There may have been a certain unique charm about such combinations of occupations, but the quality of the service rendered must have been somewhat uncertain.

Nowadays practically every man and woman in the productive business world, works along some certain well-defined line. The result of this specialization is shown in the immense advance there has been in the quality and variety of articles put into the market for general consumption.

The medium through which the public is informed of the best of these articles and their place of sale is the advertising columns of THE JOURNAL.

Local dealers should co-operate with and "hustle" for the manufacturers who use local newspaper advertising to exploit the products they handle.

The Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York, solicits correspondence with dealers interested in newspaper advertising for nationally sold merchandise.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

"The trouble with me is that I'm lonesome," said Peter Rabbit as he sat in the old briar patch. "Yes, sir, that's the only thing that's wrong with me. I'm just tired of myself, and that's why I've lost my appetite. And now that I know what's the matter, what am I going to do about it? If I was sure, absolutely sure, that Old Man Coyote meant what he said about our being friends I'd start out this minute and call on all my friends. My, my, it seems an age since I visited the Smiling Pool and saw Grandfather Frog and Jerry Muskrat and Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter. Mr. Coyote sounded as if he really meant to leave me alone, but, but—well, perhaps he did mean it when he saw me sitting here safe among the brambles, but if I should start him out in the open he might change his mind and—oh, dear, his teeth are terribly long and sharp!"

Peter sat a little longer thinking and thinking. Then a bright idea popped into his head. He kicked up his heels. "I'll do it," said he. "I'll make a journey! That's what I'll do! I'll make a journey and see the great wide world.

"By staying here ad sitting still
I'm sure I'll simply grow quite ill.
A change of scene is what I need
To be from all my troubles free."

Of course if Peter had really stopped to think the matter over thoroughly he would have known that running away from one kind of trouble is almost sure to lead to other troubles. But Peter is one of those who do their thinking afterward. Peter is what is called impulsive—that is, he does things and then thinks about them later, and often wishes he hadn't done them. So now the minute the idea of making a journey popped into his head he made up his mind that he would do it, and that was all there was to it. You see, Peter never looks ahead. If he could get rid of the trouble that bothered him now, which, you know, was nothing but homesickness, he wouldn't worry about the troubles he might get into later.

Now the minute Peter made up his mind to make a journey he began to feel better. His lost appetite returned, and the first thing he did was to eat a good meal of sweet clover. "Let me see," said he as he filled his big stomach; "I believe I'll visit the Old Pasture. It's a long way off and I've never been there, but I've heard Sammy Jay say that it's a very wonderful place, and I don't believe it is any more dangerous than the Green Meadows and the Green Forest now that Old Man Coyote and Reddy and Granny Fox are all going here. I'll start tonight when I am sure that Old Man Coyote is not here around, and I won't tell a soul where I am going."

So Peter settled himself and tried to sleep the long day away, but his mind was so full of the long journey he was going to make that he couldn't sleep much, and when he did have a nap he dreamed of wonderful sights and adventures and in the great wide world. At last he saw jolly, round, red Mr. Sun drop down to his bed behind the Purple Hills. Old Mother West Wind came hurrying back from her day's work and gathered her children, the Merry Little Breezes, into her big bag, and then she, too, started for her home behind the Purple Hills. A little star came out and winked at Peter, and then, way over on the edge of the Green Forest, he heard Old Man Coyote laugh. Peter grinned. That was what he had been waiting for, for it meant that Mr. Wolf was so far away that there was nothing to fear from him.

Peter hopped out from the dear, safe old briar patch, looked this way and that way, and then, with his heart in his mouth, he started toward the Old Pasture as fast as he could go, lippety, lippety, lip.

The Evening Story — Dependable

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

"You're to be congratulated, Barbara, on having such a dependable overseer."

"He is dependable, yes."

From the broad veranda of the Herrick farm house Barbara Herrick glanced indifferently at the tall, broad-shouldered man giving orders in decisive yet kindly tones to various farm hands.

"The beauty of it is I never bother my head about it."

"It would be rather hard to replace him I should think," her guest went on, and Barbara laughed outright.

"Replace Jim Barrow! That's really funny, Joan. Why, there isn't a firmer fixture on the farm than Jim. Father practically raised him, you know. Jim would be like a fish out of water if he didn't have the affairs of the Herrick stock farm under his thumb."

She dismissed the subject with a careless concession of Jim Barrow's value to her as other of her guests sauntered up, but for a moment her inner consciousness recalled lightly another reason only she was aware of which made the chance of Jim Barrow's ever leaving her practically impossible.

Five years before, when she was eighteen, Jim had told her that he loved her. She had laughed at him in heartwhole girl fashion, told him he was an old goose and gone gaily on her way, to be told by her father next day that Jim had got a queer notion in his head that he wanted to leave the Herrick farm that had been home to him since childhood. Her only comment had been that, of course, people like a change once in a while; that no doubt there were many who would be glad to take Jim's place, and she didn't see why his going should make the slightest difference one way or the other. Her viewpoint, however, was completely changed the following week, when the untimely death of her father left her quite alone.

"Jim," she said after the funeral, "surely you're not going to leave me now! You told father before he died that you wouldn't. You haven't forgotten, Jim?"

For a moment Jim Barrow looked at her silently, the pain in his eyes for a moment startling her. "No, I haven't forgotten," he said, in his quiet way. "I'll stick—as long as you need me."

"And, Jim," she said, a trifle diffidently, "that was all foolishness the other day, just imagination running away with you. I never want to hear anything about it again, Jim."

"There was an unfathomable look in his eyes as he looked away off beyond her fields of uncut grain. "You never will," he replied tersely.

And she never did. "Jim has got over his foolishness," she congratulated herself frequently, and went her way utterly untroubled with responsibility, spending her winters in the city without the faintest ripple of worry coming near her as to things at home, just because of dependable Jim Barrow. The summers always found her with a party of city friends on the farm, spending the days motoring about the country or boating on the lake edging the pasture land, not the least of her pleasures being the rambling over her splendid property with her guests, pointing with pride to the perfect conditions found everywhere, remarking carelessly to Barrow if he happened to be near when anything particularly impressed her, "You certainly have things in firstclass shape, Jim."

On one occasion of this sort she had turned from him smilingly to her companions. "You see how splendidly everything is kept up?" complacently. "And the beauty of it is I never bother my head about it; Jim is so very——" the word given her days before came to her——"dependable."

She looked at him kindly. Under a certain condescension in her tone he flushed. He was about to turn away when whispered words of a guest with whom her name was being linked frequently came to him: "But, Barbara, in such a sweet cause, is it to be wondered at?" The voice was caressing. For a moment Barbara's eyes met Jim Barrow's, finding in them a glance so stormy that just for an instant she was slightly disturbed. I don't believe all that foolishness is over," she told herself later, yet what of it? Jim said he would stick as long as I needed him. The farm will always need him, and he would never break a promise, so why bother about that old nonsense?" And, as was her habit, such things she termed worrisome, she proceeded to forget all about it.

She felt distinctly aggrieved when a few days later Barrow informed her he was going to make a trip west. When she voiced a little o fthis dissatisfaction he merely said: "Johnston can look after things. Anyway, I've got to get away for a time." His voice was brusque and there was a new restlessness about him. For some reason she felt unaccountably hurt.

He left the following week, and Johnston took charge. He was an old man who had been on the farm when Barbara was born. She was astounded at his lack of executive ability and was irritated beyond measure.

"Don't bother me about it, Johnston," she said once after Barrow had been gone a fortnight. Mr. Barrow never does. I had no idea," fretfully, "that one man could be missed so much."

"Aye," old Johnston replied shrewdly, "and it's missing him more you'll be when he goes west for good."

"Good!" Barbara's eyes were wide.

"Aye, I'm thinking he's off west for nothing but to look at land to settle on. It's only natural the man should want to work for himself some time. And I guess he's kind of tired being put upon."

Johnston's eyes twinkled as Barbara flounced away from him with a snapped out "Rubbish!" You need rousing, my lady," he said to himself quietly, "and I'll give you a little more to think about round your farm than you've been doing, and let you see there's some worry goes along with it." And Johnston proceeded to pile the work on his mistress.

Day by day she became more and more amazed at the responsibility, the worry that went along with the fines, stock farm in the country, as she had always thrilled at hearing it called. She had never paused to wonder how things were accomplished.

Affairs ran smoothly, and that was all that she cared about. Now her eyes began to open, and as Johnston continued to enlighten her on the greatness of the responsibility resting upon her overseer, there grew in her a new respect for Jim Barrow, and a sense of shame that she had shifted on to his shoulders not only the responsibility of the farm, but of the household as well. She filled her home with company, gave her housekeeper carte blanche, who in turn turned accounts over to Jim to settle or dispute, as the case might be.

Well, when he came back things would be different. She would share the load. She was going to learn something about her farm. But Johnston had said Jim might go west for good. The farm could not get along without him. Suddenly she discovered that the one thing in the world she could not get along without was Jim Barrow. And the day she made the discovery he came back.

"My, but I've—we've missed you, Jim!" she said, her eyes shining.

"Look after it?" indifferently.

"Heaps," she replied. "Jim"—her voice was hurried—"I want to tell you now that I realize at last all you've had to do for me and how utterly selfish

She looked at him fearlessly.

I've been, and I want you to teach me things about the farm, so that I can help intelligently."

"The man you've chosen?" he put in dully.

She looked at him quickly. Then she smiled a little. "Yes," she said sweetly, "the man I've chosen!"

He turned to her swiftly. "How is it you're alone here? Where is your mob? Where is he?"

"He?" Her bewilderment was well simulated.

"The man of your choice."

"Oh!" She flushed under his direct gaze; then she looked at him fearlessly, saying: "He is here, Jim. You don't know all I've learned since you went away."

FRANK H. REYNOLDS IS CANDIDATE FOR COUNCIL

Well-Known Young Business Man Decides to Make Race in Eighth Ward

Frank H. Reynolds, member of the city park board from the Eighth ward and a well known young Atlanta business man, has decided to make the race for council in his ward to succeed Councilman Clarence Haverty, who will decline to stand for re-election.

Mr. Reynolds becomes a candidate as the result of solicitation on the part of a number of citizens of the Eighth ward, who suggested the matter to him before he had any idea of running.

Mr. Reynolds is a son-in-law of W. H. Patterson, a prominent Atlantian, who was himself a member of the park board in former years, having served as president of that body, and who took a more or less active interest in municipal affairs.

It is not improbable that Mr. Reynolds will have opposition, as Charles E. Harmon and Joseph F. Nutting are understood to be considering the race. Mr. Harmon has been in council, and Mr. Nutting, who is a half-brother of Alderman J. R. Nutting, was a candidate for council last fall, being defeated by W. G. Humphrey.

Fourteen in Row for Giants---Crackers Won Eight in Row

Errors Broke Winning List For Crackers

Price Pitched Well and Team Hit Hard, but Errors Butted in at Critical Times—Mobile Team Turned Trick

It took the league leaders to break the Crackers' winning streak, and the Gulls turned the trick by a 4 to 2 score. Thereby keeping Atlanta out of first place.

Costly errors decided the game in Mobile's favor. In the first the Gulls scored two on no hits, the Crackers contributing four bobbles to the entertainment.

Atlanta scored one in the first and tied the game up in the third, but in the seventh they broke their stride and more errors coupled with hits counted two for Mobile.

The stars of the game were Bisland and Stock, the opposite shortops, while both pitchers pitched good ball, Cavet coming in for some timely hitting.

The team and the fans got in behind the umpire when in the seventh, Tommy Long was called out at the plate. After this decision Joe Dunn was chased from the game for objecting, and the crowd fairly flayed the umps.

After the game Wright was escorted to the club house by Smith, and from thence onward received the protection of Chief Beavers' trusty men.

Taking it all in all, the Crackers had an off day that was way off.

Rivers Fights Milkman

VENTURA, Cal. July 11—Joe Rivers, lightweight pugilist, must appear in court July 16 to answer a charge of having broken the jaw of a milkman, who recently disputed Rivers' right of the road while the pugilist was driving his motor car. Rivers' bond was fixed at $500.

THOMPSON IS FIGHTING TO BE REGULAR

With Carl Thompson showing anything like the form he displayed in his first workout, with the Cracker bunch he is sure to land a regular berth with the Cracker crew, and he will certainly get his full share of work. He is a youngster and needs plenty of hurling duty to keep him in the best of shape, and it appears more than likely that he will get a chance to fling the ball every three or four days.

When Joe Conzelman's arm comes around all right, which will probably be in a day or so, Manager Smith will work Conzelman, Dent, Price and Thompson in regular turn. Every club that ever won a pennant had a regular rotation for the pitchers, and that is the best method that Billy Smith can adopt.

Just now Atlanta is in the thick of the fight for the 1913 pennant, and a game won or lost makes quite a big difference. The race is close and when a few pitchers can go out and do their work, there is a better chance to win than when some six flingers are used in no regular turn.

EXPECTED TO PROVE A STAR

Carl Thompson

ED WALSH IS NOW ALL IN; FAST BALL HAS PASSED

If you want any proof that Ed Walsh is through you can get it from the 1913 records. For the big fellow has pitched only seventy-four innings for the White Sox. And remember that the season's half done and that Ed's on the shelf and there's no telling when Manager Callahan will send him to the box again.

That seventy-four innings record isn't going to be stretched much beyond 125 at the outside. And 125 innings of work isn't much for Walsh in one season. In 1910 he pitched 369 2-3 innings and in 1911 he worked 368 2-3 innings. Last season he went still better, working in 393 innings. And Manager Callahan had hoped to get 400 innings of work out of Walsh this season, smashing all modern records.

This spring the big spitballer started out in his usual style, slow to get going in the exhibition affairs, but ready to hurl his first game of the season. He went in all right and right at the start of the season he got by with several victories, but even then it was noticed that his speed was failing and that his pitching no longer carried the "sting" that it once did.

With arm and strength on the wane Walsh set out to save himself as much as possible. He developed a dinky curve that is contemptuously referred to as a "wrinkle" by batters who have been against it and tried to get by.

At times it has been pitiful to see Walsh trying to stall through on a curve ball that doesn't break six inches, for you can't help remembering that only last season Walsh never bothered about a curve ball. He mixed in a lot of "smoke" balls with his assortment of "spitters" and proceeded to stand American league sluggers on their heads.

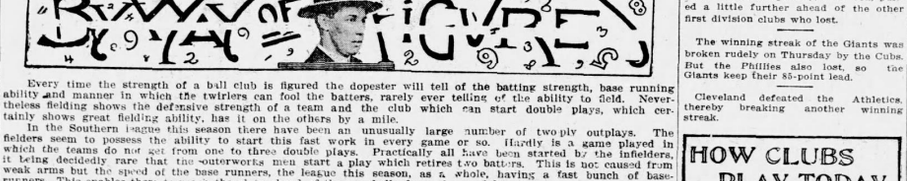
But now it's different, and if Walsh again becomes a factor in the success of the White Sox he will have to develop a real curve ball, for the strength he needs for his fast ball and for his spitter has deserted him.

Taylor Won't Come

LONDON, July 11.—J. H. Taylor, open golf champion of England, has finally decided not to join Harry Vardon and Edward Ray in their American touring, during which Vardon and Ray will compete in the open championship tournament at Brookline, Mass. They sail on August 6, accompanied by Winfrid Reid, the professional at the Banstad Downs club, and Louis Tellier, a French professional.

Duke Gets Match

Kid Duke, the local bantamweight, will box Kid Brooks in a six round exhibition at the American theater Friday night. This is Duke's first come-back stunt. He says if he wins he wishes to get a match with Pries or Britt.



Every time the strength of a ball club is figured the dopester will tell of the batting strength, base running ability and manner in which the twirlers can fool the batters, rarely ever telling of the ability to field. Nevertheless fielding shows the defensive strength of a team and the club which can start double plays, which certainly shows great fielding ability, has it on the others by a mile.

In the Southern league this season there have been an unusually large number of two-ply outplays. The fielders seem to possess the ability to start this fast work in every game or so. Hardly is a game played in which the teams do not get from one to three double plays. Practically all have been started by the infielders, it being decidedly rare that the outerworkers men start a play which retires two batters. This is not caused from weak arms but the speed of the base runners, the league this season, as a whole, having a fast bunch of baserunners. This enables them to reach the plate ahead of the thrown balls from the outfield.

In this matter of double plays the Southern league leads both the American and National. In the first 75 games of the season the Southern league clubs had pulled off 382 double plays against 321 in the National in the 75 games and 380 in the American for the first five battles. This speaks well of the fielding in the Southern circuit and shows that the infielders are right on their jobs and always know where to play the ball.

The Nashville club is leading the Southern teams in double plays with 63, with Atlanta next in line with 51. In the American league the St. Louis Browns are first with 56, while in the National Cincinnati with 50 tops the list. This speaks especially well for second division clubs.

At starting double plays in the American league the infielders lead by a big margin. Of the 380 doubles this season the infielders have started 264. The battery men have started 71 and the outfielders just 55. Eddie Collins, of the tribe of Mack, is the king bee at starting the double retiring play, while of the outfielders Bob Shorten, of St. Louis, is in a class all by himself.

WELCHONCE AND SMITH WANTED BY THE MAJORS

These Two Players Are Going So Well They Are Sure to Get Trial

Wallace Smith and Harry Welchonce are the two Cracker players the major league scouts are now watching. Of course, they take a good glimpse at several others who wear the Atlanta uniform, but as Welchonce and Smith they take a second peek and it begins to look as if both are to go higher.

Both of the players have had a trial in the big show, and it took some time for the moguls in the higher company to come to the decision that neither was good enough. Now the same people who turned the two star performers back to the majors are bidding for their services and offering far more money than the Atanta club had to pay to land them. Their work in the Southern league has been a revelation to the wise guys and they are admitting their mistake.

Wallace Smith is undoubtedly one of the most valuable ball players that has ever pastimed in a class A league. At hitting he is pounding the ball for keeps. He has a good eye at the plate and has perhaps been purposely walked oftener this season than any other player in the league. At third base he is even a better fielder than a batter and at that he is hitting around .340. To improperly play a ground ball is out of the question. He always figures the hop, keeping his eye on the runner, whenever he comes in or goes back you know that it is the proper way to play it.

It is at the batting game that Welchonce shines brightest. This boy is one of the most natural hitters in the circuit, hitting a southpaw just as easily as a right-hander. He has a free, hard swing, and many of his cracks go for extra bases just because he hits them so hard and solid. It is not often you see him get one of the fluke variety, his safeties being the kind that go on a line.

There are several clubs now talking of purchasing these two players, but there isn't a chance for either to be turned away until the pennant race is decided. The baseball association figures that the fans have stuck by the team entirely too well to dispose of the star players just because a little money can be picked up. Of course, they will be sold, but it will be after some one has sewed up the flag race.

ENTERTAIN CRACKERS

To try and make the Cracker players forget the high tension they have been pon for the past few days the team was entertained as a watermelon cutting at the Peachtree Athletics club, 402 Peachtree street, Thrsday evening. It happens that all the Cracker players are especially friendly, there being absolutely no dissension, and they made merry for some time.

Practically all the players on the club board at 402 Peachtree and for this reason the place has been termed the Peachtree Athletic club. To make them forget shop they are often entertained by different forms of amusement.

JOURNEYS TO THE DIAMOND

The Umpire

The umpire is a creation supposed *not to be human. His special mis*sion in life is to act as a buffer for the feelings of the home crowd when the town boys are losing. His specialty is missing them.

The umpire covers his face with a wove-wire feature protector, so the excited and perhaps a trifle provoked players cannot pull his nose or gouge his glimmers. The umpire also wears a pneumatic pad over his chest and embonpoint. Each day he blows into this pad until it bulges with what might be termed the umpire's second wind. This pad is to save the umpire's life when the angry catcher jumps aside and lets a fast ball bump the greatest daylight burglar outside the realms of fiction.

The umpire also wears kneecaps and shinguards to protect himself from wild pitchers and singing popbottles.

Most umpires have hardened hearts and over-developed thumbs, the former to enable them to ward off the sympathetic murmurs of the audience, the latter due to the frequent exercise of beckoning obstreperous players to the bench or the shower.

The umpire always carries a whisk-broom and an indicator. With the broom he whisks the dust of the plate so he can miss them easier. With the indicator he keeps accurate tab on the number he misses.

In addition to these few things it might be added that the umpire is afflicted with an acute astigmatism, has cauliflower ears and a head of ham (or cheese), is knock-kneed and web-footed, also squab-toed and white-livered. Outside of these few defects, or ailments, the umpire is a regular fellow, providing you are willing to take the word of the 9-carat bug when the town boys are eight or ten runs in front.

The umpire is the one great and grand delight of the bugs. When a foul tip eludes the catcher and pushes the mask into the umpire's map the bugs are moved to shouts of fiendish glee. When a wild pitch bounds off the umpire's pedal and the poor fellow grabs his wounded trilby in writhing agony the bugs are filled with unrestrained joy. They cheer lustily, even sympathetically.

Occasionally when the town boys happen to be racing far ahead, the umpire is left in peace for a minute or two. In which event is a case of toleration only, the bug being willing (temporarily) to echo John Bacon, Shakespeare's great solacer:

"God made him for a man, therefore let him pass!"

CHANGES FOR JUST A DAY

The Southern race remained unchanged Thursday, except for the fact that Mobile and Montgomery, who won, pulled a little further ahead of the other first division clubs who lost.

The winning streak of the Giants was broken rudely on Thursday by the Cubs. But the Phillies also lost, so the Giants keep their 85-point lead.

Cleveland defeated the Athletics, thereby breaking another winning streak.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 11.—On Ladies' day Birmingham this afternoon expects to make it two straight over the visitors. Probable batteries: Birmingham, Prough and Clifton; Memphis, Parsons or Merritt and Snell.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 11.—Nashville and New Orleans meet again this afternoon for the second game of the series. Redding or Brackenridge will pitch for Nashville. Brenton and Adams will probably be New Orleans' battery. Local showers are predicted.

CHATANOOGA, July 11.—The second game of the Chattanooga-Birmingham series is scheduled for this afternoon. The weather is threatening and damp. Batteries: Chattanooga, Howell or Summers and Street; Montgomery, Manning and Gribbens.

CRACKERS AND GIANTS ARE FINALLY DEFEATED

STARS OF ONE DAY

Wheat: Received six putouts and an assist in the outfield on Thursday, and got one hit out of four times at bat.

Daubert: Played errorless ball and hit safely once out of four.

Smith: Got three hits out of four times and scored two runs.

Paskert: Was used only as a pinch hitter against Pittsburg.

Johnston, of Cleveland: Was up three times and did not connect.

Jackson: Was up four times and did not hit.

Yerkes: Was up four times and hit once.

Derrill Prat: Was up four times and did not hit.

Johnston, of St. Louis: Dittoed Pratt's performance.

Aero Crafts After Record

CHICAGO, July 11.—Three aviators who were wind-bound with their flying boats in different ports along Lake Michigan yesterday were in readiness today to resume the cruise from Chicago to Detroit.

Beckwith Havens expected to leave Macatawba at 8 o'clock, lunch at Manistee and continue to Charlevoix, where he intended to spend the night. Roy M. Francis, who broke a propeller when his machine rammed a log Wednesday evening, has made full repairs and is due to leave South Haven early today.

Walter E. Johnson, whose machine was washed ashore near Robertsdale, Ind., in Tuesday's storm, said his engine was again in perfect condition. A strong wind which whipped up the water of the lake on the east shore, prevented him from getting away yesterday.

Glenn L. Martin, of Los Angeles, notified the Aero Club of Illinois to have its officials at the foot of Peck Court early for the start. He declared that unless he has a strong wind against him, he will establish a world's over-water record by flying a non-stop 290 miles into Charlevoix.

Good Tennis Play

LOUISVILLE, July 11.—J. J. Armstrng, of St. Paul, northwestern champion, was *defeated at the Ohio-Ken*tucky bi-state tennis tournament here by John Schaaf, of Cincinnati, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, in the semi-finals in men's singles. In the doubles semi-finals, however, Armstrong and J. T. McElroy, of Pittsburg, won their match.

New Yorkers Won Fourteen in Row, While Crackers Had Credit of Eight Straight Games From Opponents

The winning streaks of both the New York Nationals and Atlanta Crackers were broken in the games of Thursday, the Giants losing after winning fourteen in a row and the Crackers were swamped after the club had made it eight straight wins. Mobile and Chicago proved the wrecking crews.

The loss by the Crackers kept the team from jumping to first place and gave the Mobile bunch renewed life. With the Giants it was different, the team already being safely anchored in the first station and a loss did not pull McGraw down the ladder especially when the Phillies were again trounced.

The Atlanta team won the eight games in a row mainly through hard hitting, each being deserved. With the Giants it was different. The club was outhit in some seven of the fourteen games and won out only through base running and misplays of the opposing clubs. The spurt by the Giants consisted of wins over Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Boston and Chicago, four each being taken from Boston, Philadelphia and Brooklyn and the other two from the Cubs.

Atlanta started the winning streak by downing the Montgomery bunch in the last of a three-games series, then taking two in a row from Mobile, two from New Orleans and three from Memphis. Mobile broke the winning streak in the first battle between the two clubs and it was errors that did the work. Price pitched well and the team hit hard but old errors butted in and there wasn't a chance to win.

With the winning, Thursday, the Mobile Gulls stand a chance to hold first place for some time to come. The team is now 2 1-2 games ahead of Atlanta and one in advance of Montgomery, which club is in second place. Chattanooga, in fourth place, is just 1-2 a game back of the Crackers.

In the National race the Giants are 6 1-2 games ahead of the Phillies with the Philadelphia bunch moving rather slowly, while the Giants have just struck a fast clip. The Brooklyn Dodgers are also falling, with Chicago climbing up a bit.

DOBBS TO LEAD BROWNS DURING THE 1914 CAMPAIGN?

Rumor Strongly Intimates That Montgomery Mogul Will Oust Stovall

Madam Rumor, the old dame that has caused so many misunderstandings in this little cozy corner of a world, is now oozing another bit of gossip our way that a little bird was kind enough to slip her way.

The latest thing that the dear sister has imparted to our wide open cauliflowers is that a very youthful and very wise manager, who is now doing stunts in the Southern league, will not sojourn with us after this summer. The gent we are now speaking of was at loss last April to know whether he was going to act in the capacity of manager for the Montgomery club or act as official dog catcher for the Fodunk city commission. Notwithstanding these difficulties, Boss Dobbs was right on the job when he found that the city of Montgomery would struggle along another season in select company, and try and keep the franchise for a few months longer. He set to work with nothing to work upon. No contracts were out, no players had signed, and it was right upon the verge of the opening of the season. Laboring under all these handicaps, Dobbs has mended together a fighting combination. They may not win the pennant. We do not think they will. But he has worked wonders if he is successful enough to top last place in first division.

Now on with the dance. Dame Rumor says that Dobbs will be the manager for the St. Louis Browns next year. The old skirt says that it has already been cut and dried between Boss Hedges, of the St. Louis Browns, and Mr. Hedges, of St. Louis, that this is to be.

Few may know it, but nevertheless it is true that the Browns have an option on nearly every player that is pastiming on the Montgomery squad this year. That is the very reason that there has been such a hullabaloo raised about Kutina. Kutina was the property of the St. Louis Browns. But the Kutina deal will have to go if the national baseball commission decides in favor of Frank.

Now it comes to light that Dobbs has an appointment with Hedges in Chattanooga this week when the team reaches that city. That there will be some talk about the St. Louis club for next year would not be surprising. It certainly seems that the little manager is destined to boss a crew in the big works.

Dobbs does not deny the rumor. He merely states that he has nothing to give out on the subject.

It would not be surprising to us if we should hear in a week or so an official announcement given out of the office of President Hedges that Mr. Dobbs had been signed to pilot the Browns next year and that George Stovall had been cut loose from the roster.—Exchange.

Baxley Team Wins

BAXLEY, Ga., July 11.—Baxley defeated the strong East Point team in a very interesting game from a Baxley viewpoint, the score being 9 to 1. The game was tied until the fifth inning, 1 to 1, when Baxley started a batting rally and scored eight runs off Davenport. Perring for Baxley was master of the situation at all stages of the game.

Batteries: Baxley, Perring and Gray; East Point, Davenport, Carroll and Wise.

DODGER CLUB DROPS TO SECOND DIVISION.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Brooklyn's struggle for a place among leaders of the National league has received a setback by the loss of seven games, placing the team today in the second division. After the defeat by Cincinnati yesterday the Brooklyns stood nominally at the same percentage as Pittsburg, which was .492, but by close figuring the statisticians drop Brooklyn to the second division by the infinitesimal margin of .000375.

Journal Club Again Winner

By the sweeping score of 18 to 12 The Journal team defeated the Producers' club, both of the Grocers' league, in an exciting game Wednesday afternoon at Piedmont park. A big crowd saw the fracas.

The Journal boys grabbed the lead early in the battle and continued to pile up the counters in every inning but two. They poled the pellet for a total of twenty-one bingles. Hull, Laird and Pauvolesky getting their share of the clouts.

Stallings hurled good ball until the fifth and had the Producers on his hip, but in that period they got to him for several safe swats, and Simmons took the mound in the next round.

Pick America To Win Title

NOTTINGHAM, July 11.—Prospects this morning was that the weather would be better today than it was yesterday, and that the doubles match in the series between teams representing the United States and Germany in the semi-final round of the preliminary contest for the selection of challenger to meet McLoughlin for the Dwight F. Davis international lawn tennis cup would be played under improved conditions tomorrow.

Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, and Harold H. Hackett, of New York, had been chosen to met Friedrich Wilhelm Rahe and Heinrich Kleinschroth in today's match in which the German players were believed by experts to have a considerable chance of success.

The American team was generally considered certain to win the series.

Pell Goes Strong

SEAGHRT, N. J., July 11.—The field of lawn tennis players in the cup tournament here narrowed down to the final lists Thursday. T. R. Pell, the former Olympic player, in the semi-final of the Achilles cup singles, defeated O. F. Touchard, 9-7, 9-6, 6-3.

G. M. Church and Deen Mathey, the Princeton pair, defeated N. W. Miles and A. S. Dabney, the eastern states' champions, 8-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Defender Is Named

NEW YORK, July 11.—At a special meeting of the international cup committee of the New York Canoe club last night, it was decided to let Lee Friedo, Manhattan Canoe club, defend the international cup against Ralph B. Britten, the Canadian challenger. The start and the finish of the international race will be off the marine and field club at Rich Beach. The first race will be started at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, weather permitting.

CALLAHAN IS "LION TAMER", CONTROLS ANY OLD PLAYER

If Jimmy Callahan could only bag a few more of baseball's malcontents his Chicago White Sox might yet make the 1912 pennant fight interesting for the Athletics, who are giving a very good imitation just now of stealing a winning lead.

To begin the season Callahan had Harry Lord at third, and Harry is a member of the White Sox team because he was disgruntled at Boston. Jimmy had such luck in handling Lord that he decided he might as well take a chance with other dissatisfied men. So he went into the open market and bagged Hal Chase, first baseman extraodinary, whose first-basing this season was very ordinary for New York because he didn't fancy his berth under Chance. And Chase, coupled with Lord, just about made the White Sox.

What Chase did for his team set Callahan to thinking, and he decided he could bolster up his pitching staff if he could persuade Jake Stahl to part with Buck O'Brien, who hasn't been very strong with the Boston manager for a long time.

Buck is said to have committed the indiscretion of smearing his fist over Joe Wood's classic countenance last fall, and that's lese majesty in Boston. So Stahl sent O'Brien to Chicago. And such was Callahan's eloquence that the White Sox slipped the Red Sox nothing in players, parting with only a few thousand in cash.

Now, if Callahan could go out and bag a few more stars who have differed with club managers or owners at some time recently he could grab off a real flag chaser in a hurry. With Kling, Archer or Bresnahan to help Schalk behind the bat, Chase on first, Lajoie on second, Schafer at short, Zimmerman or Lord on third, Bender, O'Brien and Marquard along with Russell, Scott, White and Benz of his present team in the box, Rube Oldring in left, Ty Cobb in center, and Crawford, or Detroit, or John Collins, of his 1913 outfit, in right, Callahan would have a team capable of winning any old flag any old time.

Adairsville Wins

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga., July 11.—Adairsville defeated Kingston on the latter's diamond Wednesday by the score of 9 to 0. The features of the game were Hunt's pitching, allowing but two scratch hits, striking out sixteen men, and the batting of Paul Dyar and catching of Tolbert and his hitting.

Following is the line-up:

FAVORABLE CROP REPORTS CAUSED BREAK IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 3 to 11 Points Down From the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 11.—Cotton continued irregularly in today's early trading with near months influenced by the diminishing local stock, while later deliveries responded to better weather crop advices. Business was not active enough to cause anything more than narrow fluctuations, however, and after opening steady at an advance of 3 points and a decline of 2 points, prices held within a range of 2 or 3 points.

Reports that a Memphis authority made the crop condition 82.5 against 81.2 two weeks ago started increased selling and prices broke to a net loss of 8 to 12 points. Slight rallies followed with the market still off, and about 6 to 8 points net lower at noon.

Trading continued quiet during the early afternoon with prices ruling about 8 to 10 points net lower.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—Cotton futures opened steady and unchanged to 1 point down, compared with yesterday's close. The holidays in Liverpool caused dullness in the local market, although the undertone held steady enough. Good rains were reported in the central and eastern portions of the belt, which are generally regarded as being favorable, but they caused little selling. Offerings were easily absorbed and at the end of the first half hour of business prices were 2 points over yesterday's last quotations.

The report of another bale of new cotton in Texas and the detailed weather reports showing even more rain than was noted on the weather map caused increased offerings around the middle of the morning and prices fell off under them until the new crops were 6 to 7 points under the close of yesterday. The old crops were inactive except for a few transactions in August, which at the lowest showed a net decline of 4 points. Scalping shorts took their profits quickly and late in the morning the market was steady. At noon prices were 2 to 8 points under yesterday's close.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Morris H. Rothenbild & Co.: We anticipate no pronounced decline and prefer purchases on moderate recessions.

Sternberger, Sinn & Co.: We do not look for big change one way or the other for the immediate future.

Logan & Bryan: We are disposed to the view that the long side sharp declines will possess the greatest attractiveness.

Hayden, Stone & Co.: For the moment, operators buy on declines and sell during recoveries as big stocks of cotton are so small in New York.

Miller & Co.: Sell cotton on the hard spots. Wymond Pynchon & Co.: We feel safer on the long side.

Saving and Investing

AFTER 25 YEARS.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

What follows is a sermon in figures. It is the record of a man's investment ventures from the day he left school, at sixteen, until he reached the age of forty-five.

In writing to me about his experience, this man said that he thought he was a typical American.

His first investment was made when he was twenty years old, when he began to pay $3 a month into a building and loan society. For the next twenty-five years since, these have been his investments, and this is the record of how they have turned out:

	Paid out.	Rec'vd.
Building and loan associations	$2,350	$3,400
Real estate	900	150
Cattle	600	50
Insurance company stock	400	100
Stock in textile mill	332	.....
Stock in a telegraph company	200	.....
Stock of "wireless" company	70	.....
Stock in brick plant	100	.....
Stock in gold mine	250	.....
Stock in a self-winding clock company	60	.....
Cotton futures	600	.....
Mercantile business	2,500	.....
Life insurance policy (20 payments)	560	*2,500
House and lot	4,000	14,500
Total	$13,672	$11,700

*In dividends. Rent equivalent.

It is a "spotted" record, yet the man made more good investments than bad. He figures that his average, after twenty-five years, are as follows:

Value of home, based on $200 a year rent, and figuring 5 per cent on the investment (he can do that where he lives), $4,000; value of his business, based on its previous earning record, $14,000, and present value of his life insurance, $9,000. He owns $2,000 on his home, so that his net estate is now $25,000.

Getting ahead $1,000 a year isn't bad. It's typical. In this case a training in investment would have saved at least $2,400 to add to the total sum.

HAYNARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.—Weather developments over night were again favorable. The forecast shows light showers today, cloudy elsewhere; cooler with a fine general precipitation in the central and eastern states. Indications are for partly cloudy and showery weather in the belt, except fair in the lower half of Texas.

There is a cool wave now sending for the western states. Reports indicate general good rains and cooler weather on Texas within the next 24 hours, which will be unusual, by a short heat spell of no consequence.

The market was inclined to open lower on good controlling buying by Ferris & Hart at once advanced August prices and by this show of power, caused all selling, with the consequence that the market remains idle around last night's closing figures.

The Turner Crop Bureau, of Memphis, makes the condition 82.5 on July 8. The report says that the greatest improvement in Texas is practically free from the weevil pest. The market weakened in the early trade on the announcement from Houston of a second new bale from San Benito shipped for sale to New Orleans, on government grade, and a temperature this morning average for Oklahoma of only 98 against 102 the past few days, a bearish late night forecast and small forwardings from Liverpool to the market, 37,000 bales, against 62,000 last year.

THE WEATHER

Atlanta and vicinity: Showers tonight or Saturday.

Georgia and Alabama: Local showers tonight or Saturday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

A storm of considerable force is central this morning over Manitoba, with the atmospheric pressure below 29.00 inches at Winnipeg. Slight disturbances are also evident over Nova Scotia district and in southern New Mexico.

Showers were general in the east and gulf and south Atlantic states and also in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys, the largest amounts at Huron, 148 inches, Memphis, 1.36, and Wilmington, 1.16.

The passage of the western storm across the lakes, with a prolongation of low pressure toward the southwest, will cause showers tonight and Saturday at Atlanta and vicinity.

Temperatures were high in the southwest, where Phoenix reported 106 as maximum, but conditions are no longer favorable for excessively high temperatures in the east.

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says:

Very hot weather covers the western cotton belt and friends of the staple are exploiting 107 temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma as good reason for the early market should continue steady. Wednesday and Thursday the hot belt temperatures were 107 in Texas and Oklahoma was 102 degrees. Yesterday 22 Texas stations reported high temperatures ranging between 100 and 106 degrees, seven of which were 104. Such temperatures, if sustained mean heavy crop damage. We have with the crop as well as with the boll weevil, but the latter's ravages are checked by such high temperatures practically every year, and for this reason August and today alike promise to become settled over the hot temperature talk yesterday. After many days of waiting Houston at last reported the arrival of the season's first new bale. It comes one month later than the first new bale of 1911 and eight days later than the first new bale of 1912. In this connection, bulls contend that the interests of the South will be best positive of the all-around lateness of the 1913-14 cotton crop. Texas is practically out of the early yearly producing section of Texas is late, the heavy producing sections are now late in all and 1913 Texas movement will be under full swing earlier this year than usual. In the meanwhile, considerable damage to the crop must reduce contract trading to a minimum. In the meantime, bulls contend that the threat of prohibitive legislation, is in no mood for enterprise. In the second place, the attitude of trade processes and cancellations in the event the prohibitive tax should become a law. In the third place, speculative longs are busy explaining the effect of the tax to their clients.

Map forecasts, prepared by Moore & Leach, say: Showers of the belt with fine general rain, relief and cooler weather. Scattered rains in central and eastern states. Showers in the northwest and cooler weather also in eastern part of Texas and cold wave coming on the plains Saturday 82—Kofler.

Texas in about six days.—Kofler.

Forecast:

Louisiana—Tonight and Saturday unsettled, showers in portion tonight or Saturday; light to moderate easterly winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Unsettled, showers tonight or Saturday, cooler tonight in north portion.

Texas—Tonight and Saturday increasing cloudiness; light to moderate southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas—Tonight and Saturday generally fair, cooler tonight in the panhandle.

Oklahoma—Unsettled, showers tonight or Saturday.

Mississippi—Local showers tonight or Saturday.

MEMPHIS, July 11.—Cotton, spot steady unchanged, middling 12¾c.

Kentucky—Local thunder showers tonight or Saturday.

Tennessee, North and South Carolina and Alabama—Local showers tonight and Saturday.

Texas—Local rains are reported again possibly more seller, crowd inclined to sell market on favorable map which shows rain fairly general in central and eastern Texas. Lott Bell and Habersham King are both out with reports of rains.

Habersham King says: Briefly I would say that I consider the developments of the week to be bullish. Rains are due to fall off on 15 per cent. Stocks Monday temperatures moderate and Tuesday they are due to be lower all around normal, so that unfavorable conditions seem checked for the present.

Rice, Miller—Good sellers on decline, general selling by ring, summer months very weak, no support.

Houston says second new bale reported ginned on July 10 from Victoria county, 40 miles south.

Forwardings from Liverpool to mills this week only 37,000, against 62,000 last year, points to heavy stocks there today.—Kofler.

Baruch was big seller of January on the decline.

Turner bureau of Memphis makes condition of crop 82.5, against 81.3 on June 22, and against 81.6 July 1 last year.

Government records show temperature average Oklahoma state for the past week 98 degrees, temperature average Texas 100 degrees with five stations 104, and four stations 106.

Weather bureau says weather and crop accounts were of some influence in the day's decline. Rains are fairly circulated on summer months causing some depression. Local trade is dull, but it is becoming increasingly difficult to maintain prices in the face of the steady improvement in the crop which is reaching a stage of more definite summer. Corn is right. Shorts in summer months have been eliminated and further manipulation promises little profit. —Miller & Cotter.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow Jones summary: "American stocks in London irregular ¼ up to ½ off. Roumania declares war on Bulgaria. New tariff bill goes into effect August 1. Appellate court decides that "dummy" directors are liable if company fails to publish statements. Twenty-six new industrials advanced 28. Twenty rails advanced .20.

Look for a professional traders' market for the present and would buy the active issues on any fair rally. Would not be surprised to see a good demand for standard dividend paying rails during the next few months. Seems to be wet buying by people of moderate means owing issues purchased. Bulk of speculative holdings are gradually being taken over by the investors throughout the country.—Potter.

GRAIN QUOTATIONS

Chicago later Ocean says: Wheat traders regarded the rally yesterday as only natural following the previous declines. Seems to be a tendency for lower prices with a continuation of the liberal movement, believing that even handler looks for a free movement; believing right now that many of the grain to terminals and export business will be done in September. Corn: Cash trade fair, but traders were mixed last night, most of them saw Wednesday's bulge as a natural reversal. The bulls figure that the market is heavily sold and that the crop reports from Kansas that the crop has been damaged by the recent hot temperatures. There are many bears in oats who believe that the crop prospects are all right where Phoenix reported 106 with the thermometer 102 degrees, but conditions are no longer favorable for excessively high temperatures in the east.

Oats—There seems nothing bullish in the oat situation just now. The crop is being helped by good evening up during the recent decline. Evening yesterday brought about a good rally from the low point.

Provisions—Receipts of hogs considerably under the estimate and prices ruled steady to 5c higher at the yards. July pork is very strong and a good demand for outstanding interests is indicated.

Grand Forks—Rain fell from 4 to 6 hours yesterday and last night on the parched fields in northeastern North Dakota, the heaviest in the month. The downpour began in the Milnor district and struck Red river and the Pembina valley about 4 o'clock. More than an inch fell in places. Three days of hot winds had left the soil without moisture and there was much damage to crops. With the heavy rain, however, it is believed that the crops will recover. The remainder of the season without serious difficulty.

Mitchell, S. Dak.—Heavy rains commenced late yesterday afternoon and continued last night, the heaviest precipitation being called west of the Missouri river and 100 miles north. Wheat has been set up considerably and this rain will make a big improvement.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS QUIET AND LOWER

Weakness of Government Bonds Operated Against Any Recovery in Prices

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 11.—The drift of prices was downward when trading began today. Reading, Lehigh and Erie were fractionally higher, but the rest of the market was off. With the exception of Canadian Pacific, which declined nearly a point, losses were limited to small fractions. Canadian Pacific sold at 211¾, but the New York Central at 98¾ touched new low record for the year.

Shorts took no advantage of the lower opening to obtain stocks, and when offerings became more abundant, prices went still lower. Declines, however, were largely restricted to inconsiderable fractions, though there was considerable evidence of liquidation in a few shares.

The course of stocks during the morning made it apparent that factors now bearing on the market had spent their force. Although a slightly easier tendency was noticeable declines were so small as to deprive the movement of significance. Traders were of opinion that little is the way of activity could be expected until some new influences were exerted. Continued uncertainty over the legislative programme, the threatened strike of employes of eastern railroads and unfavorable conditions tend to discourage speculative ventures now.

Pressure against the copper group had its effect on Amalgamated, which declined a point. Smelting showed relatively more weakness than the copper shares but the whole list continued under the spell of light professional selling. Southern Pacific yielded more than a point to 98¾.

Large losses by banks from sub-treasury operations and the consequent reconciliations in the unfavorable bank statement which was reflected Insttiffer rates for from day to day accommodation of money opened higher at 2¼ per cent.

Stocks easy

Weakness of government bonds and sales of large blocks of New York city issues of corporations operated against any recovery in stocks. Sales were of inconsiderable amount but the market was unable to absorb even this except on a lower basis.

COTTON TAX ON FUTURES WILL ADD TO THE COST

Will Drive the Exchanges Out of Business and Greatly Increase Middleman's Expense

C. T. REVERE.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy." Thus spoke Chief Justice Marshall in setting forth the limitations upon the taxing power.

Never has the force of this dictum been more clearly illustrated than in the adoption of the Democratic senate caucus tax framed of the Clark amendment to the tariff proposing a stamp tax of one-tenth of one cent per pound on cotton futures.

The purpose of the clause evidently is not revenue, but the destruction of organized speculation in cotton. After trying for years to force the exchanges to engage in bill discussion or restricting trading in cotton futures the southern members of congress have adopted the subterfuge of a tax so onerous as to make such dealings prohibitive.

The most important clause of the Clark amendment reads as follows:

"That upon each sale, agreement of sale, or agreement to sell any cotton for future delivery, agreement of purchase, or agreement to purchase, of any cotton for future delivery at or on any cotton exchange, board of trade, or any similar place, or by any person acting in pursuance of the rules, regulations or customs of any such cotton exchanges, board of trade, or similar place, there shall be levied a tax equal to one-tenth of 1 per cent per pound on the quantity of cotton mentioned and described in any such contract, provided, that in all cases where the quantity and kind of cotton mentioned and described in any such contract is actually delivered, in compliance in good faith therewith, by the person, firm, or corporation making such sale, the tax levied by this section shall not be collected. The tax herein provided shall be paid by the seller described in such contract of sale or purchase at the time of the execution thereof by a resident of the United States, and shall be deemed and considered in all respects a sale, agreement of sale, or agreement to sell, or purchase, or agreement of purchase, or agreement to purchase, as the case may be, of the cotton described therein within the meaning of this section.

Other provisions of the amendment prescribe the manner in which the tax shall be collected and also provide for the imposition of fines and penalties of not to exceed $500 for violations of the proposed statute.

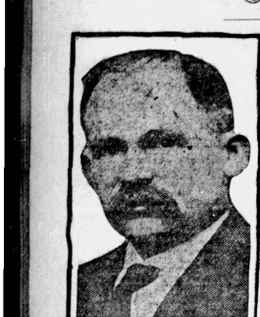
Cotton, the South's Staple Crop



I SHALL never again condemn any man for planting all of the cotton he wants to, and he can abuse its use and make as much as he pleases, as I am thoroughly convinced that it is a Godsend to our southern states. Notwithstanding, we have abused its use unmercifully, but without it I do believe the entire south would be ruined absolutely and poverty stricken for some time at least.

In making the world and all therein kind providence manifested unsel wonderful judgment in giving each part of the world natural gifts suited to every latitude and suited to the opportunities of the people in each section. For instance, in the east where competition of all kinds is at its highest pitch every one there has to hustle and have been raised to do so all their lives, and thousands there could get rich and live off of what individuals in other sections would starve on, simply because it is a habit, and both have not been educated to live differently.

The south before the war did not know what want was to a certain extent; labor was bountiful and was forced to work and not frolic as it now does most of the time. The lands were fertile and the white people, as a rule, did not know what physical work or want was. But fifty years has brought about a revolution, and with a people not knowing or having been taught to grow and market anything but grain, corn and cotton, they are at a loss to undertake any thing else. Our climate being suited under ordinary circumstances, to grow cotton almost like weeds or trees, it naturally has been instilled in the minds of the past, present and future generations, and cotton so long as the world stands will be a Godsend staple crop of the south.

The average uneducated and unposted tenant or negro laborer cannot sell or market, or scarcely grow anything else if it brought a fortune any more than a countryman could go in the New York stock exchange and make a fortune, it is out of their line. So cotton will always be here to be the backbone of 75 per cent of the southern farmers. With a home market at all times, and that is something that this country is absolutely dependent upon, notwithstanding most growers have to accept whatever price is offered for it.

It is of so much importance in the world that the buyers and consumers know they must pay a sound living price to encourage the people to continue to grow enough for our every day needs and some for speculation. It is of so much importance that where, even through every man's eagerness to get rich quick they are wise enough to know this is one goose that lays a golden egg that must not be killed. This goose has come near being killed many times but has always lived like a cat, and come near being killed many times but has always lived like a cat, and both YOUR interest of mankind, the cotton industry must live; therefore cotton will always rule the entire southern states.

The people I believe would starve, or at last a large number of them, if cotton should cease to grow here on the poor, wornout land of the south that has been so cruelly abused until nothing else on earth would continue to grow and make a living for the people the same as cotton does, or yield under such slipshod selection of seed, or such wasteful methods as are applied to the growing of cotton. On the other hand it is one crop that the production of can never be a monopoly on account of not getting suitable machinery to cultivate and harvest it with properly, as has been done with grain and nearly all other crops.

Yours very truly,

Why Pay Rent When the Same Money Will Buy You a Home?

Many men on moderate incomes go on paying rent from year to year, not realizing that they might just as well be paying the same amount toward their own home.

Right now we have houses—LOTS OF THEM—which can be bought in this way. No matter what part of the city you want to live in we have a place which will suit you. Make a small payment down—you will be surprised to know how small an amount this can be done, and next month's rent will be credited to YOUR account—not your landlord's. Prices from $2,000 up.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Forty-Two Vacant Lots and a Farm Figure in $87,500 Exchange—Peachtree and Roswell Road Sale—No. 59 East Alabama Street Brings $30,000, or $810 a Foot—$25,000 Building on South Forsyth Street—Other Announcements

Several interesting real estate announcements were made on Friday. They included an $87,500 exchange of Atlanta property for a large farm, a Peachtree and Roswell road sale, and the sale of a parcel on East Alabama street.

There was in addition to sales announcements the announcement of a building on South Forsyth street near Mitchell, for which a $25,000 building permit was taken Friday.

EXCHANGE OF PROPERTY.

J. R. Smith & J. H. Ewing, through John H. Maddox, of said agency, have sold for Dr. Joel T. Daves to George L. Patterson, of Valdosta, forty-two vacant lots at the southeast corner of State and Fourth streets. The consideration was $42,000, or at the rate of $1,000 for each lot.

These lots range from 45 to 80 feet front, and front on State, Tenth and Eighth streets and on Peachtree place and Ridge avenue. They are a block from the Home Park school.

Dr. Daves took as payment a 1,750-acre farm in Lowndes county, valued at $43,750, or $25 an acre, paying $1,750 difference in cash.

Dr. Daves will subdivide his farm into 100 and 200-acre tracts, which he will offer for sale, reserving part of the farm as an investment.

NORTH COUNTY SALE.

A warranty deed has just gone to record conveying from John G. Burckhardt to B. F. & A. C. Burdett a tract at the junction of the Peachtree and Roswell roads, fronting 152 feet on Peachtree road and 150 feet on the Roswell road. The consideration was $15,000.

ALABAMA STREET SALE.

Colonel Robert J. Lowry has sold to L. Z. Rosser and J. H. Porter No. 59 East Alabama street for $30,000, or at the rate of $810 a front foot, including the value of the building.

This property is on the south side of the street between Pryor street and Central avenue. There is a three-story building, at present vacant, on a lot 37x168 through to Kenny's alley.

$25,000 BUILDING PERMIT.

The D. Greenfield estate on Friday took a permit for the erection of a one-story and basement automobile service building on South Forsyth street, just north of Mitchell, on the east side of the street.

The building will cost $25,000, and will be so constructed as to permit of an additional nine stories. It will occupy a frontage of 113 feet and a depth of 85 feet, and will consist of stores. Moise de Leon is the contractor.

Fitzhugh Knox on Thursday took permits for fourteen houses to cost $24,000, so it looks as if building was picking up.

PUBLIC SALE.

The Greene Realty company will on the first Tuesday in August offer at the court house door the estate of Dominico Gussi the southwest corner of Fair and Frazier streets, three houses and a store on a lot 50x127.

PINE STREET SALE.

Smith & Ewing have sold for Morris Brandon and others to J. R. Thompson the northeast corner of Pine and Lloyd-Joy streets, a lot 104x126, for $1,900.

PROPERTY TRANSFERRED.

Boy Sets Fire to Buildings Just to See the Firemen

(By Associated Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—Desire to be a hero and his fascination in observing firemen at work was the reason for his starting numerous fires on the north side, given in the confession of Raymond Raab, aged fifteen, who is under arrest here charged with arson. Young Raab enumerated the fires he had started, one being the Liberal office building, which was destroyed last December, at a loss of $50,000.

Raab had been suspected for some time, as it was observed he was often among the first on the scene of a fire when an alarm was sent in. He was taken to headquarters last night and under severe questioning, confessed.

Four fires he started last week, according to the confession.

Raab is employed in a store for one day he tried to destroy it twice. He wanted to "see the firemen come," he said. Last Monday he fired mattresses and paper in a large furniture house, which sustained a $700 loss. Tuesday he obtained employment as elevator boy in an apartment house, and had been at work only a few hours when he threw a lighted match into a pile of waste paper in the basement and then rung in an alarm.

WORKMEN ON HEALEY BUILDING ON STRIKE

As Skyscraper Rises to Highest Point, Men Quit Work

Work on the new Healey skyscraper stopped at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, when the workmen walked out on strike.

One of the strikers stated that five non-union men—steel workers and brick workers—were put on the job several days ago. Their presence was protested. The protest availed nothing, said he, and the union men—steel workers and all—quit.

It was stated an adjustment of the differences might be reached Friday afternoon, and that probably the whole crew of union workers would return to their task Saturday morning.

KIRKWOOD BANDIT UNDER SENTENCE AT RICHMOND

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

RICHMOND, Va., July 11.—If Walter Turpin had been turned over to Virginia prison authorities after a term of five years in the federal prison at Atlanta that expired last February, he would now be doing time in the state prison farm instead of being locked up on a charge of cracking a safe at Kirkwood, Ga.

Before being sent to Atlanta for counterfeiting, Turpin was sentenced to a fifteen-year term in the Virginia penitentiary for burglary. He served half of that time and now was given a conditional pardon.

Soon afterward, Turpin, violating his parole, was caught making spurious money in the Methodist Reform home here, together with Thomas Seybold, who drew one year less than Turpin. Through the failure of the Virginia authorities to present a detainer, Turpin, when his time expired in Atlanta, was permitted to go free. Returning to Richmond after his term expired, Seybold was killed by William Price in a row over a woman. Price is still at large.

OVER FORTY ACCESSIONS TO INMAN PARK BAPTIST

Since accepting the call to the Inman Park Baptist church on June 22 Rev. W. J. Cuttino has received over forty accessions to the church membership, and before the close of the protracted services which are now being held. It is expected that there will be twice this numer to join the church.

The pastor and membership of the church have resolved to sell the present church property on Edgewood avenue and build a more modern and centrally located church in Inman Park.

final partition of the territories of what formerly was Euorpean Turkey.

Silistria is an important point on the Danube. Its history as a city dates back to the Toman era. Until the conclusion of the Russo-Turkish war in 1878 it had been for about 500 years the main bulwark of the Ottoman empire on its northern European frontier.

It sustained many seiges through the centuries, always offering stout resistance. As late as the Crimean war it was able to defy a bombardment by the Russians but after the last Russo-Turkish war the Turkish troops retired and left it in the hands of the Bulgarians. It has over 12,000 inhabitants, many of them Mohammedans.

Protest Made to French Against Advance of Bulgars

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, July 11.—The Bulgarian legation here has received instructions from Sofia to protest as energetically as possible to the French government against the unjustifiable proceeding of Rumania in invading Bulgarian territory.

Drops Dead After Writing Article on Balkan War

(By Associated Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, July 11.—N. Taburne, a prominent publicist here, died today of heart disease, after writing an article on the Balkan war. He was of Montenegrin origin. Emotion caused by the stirring incidents of the campaign was said to have brought about his death.

Bulgarians Won't Resist Invasion of Rumanians

(By Associated Press.)

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 11.—The Rumanian minister to Bulgaria left his post today after notifying the Bulgarian government that the Rumanian army had crossed the Bulgarian frontier.

Bulgaria has decided not to resist the invasion by the troops of her northern neighbor, although she considers it an unprecedented provocation.

Serbs Regard Campaign As Practically Ended

(By Associated Press.)

BELGRADE, July 11.—The Servian and Greek campaign against the Bulgarians in Macedonia is regarded by the Servian military authorities as concluded since the defeat of the Bulgarians in the recent fighting. The Servian troops joined hands this morning with the Greek forces which had just taken Strumitza.

Russian Papers Predict Early Peace in Balkans

(By Associated Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, July 11.—A distinctly hopeful view is expressed today by the Russian press and in official circles over the Balkan situation. Peace is regarded generally as imminent on account of the crippling of the Bulgarian armies and the severe losses sustained by Servia.

The Russian Red Cross society has decided not to send any detachments to the front.

Rumania's Stand May Bring Carnage to End

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, July 11.—Rumania's declaration of war on Bulgaria is expected to here to help bring to an end the carnage in the Balkans by forcing speedy action on the part of the powers who have been invited to intervene.

The object of King Charles, of Rumania, in assuming the part of a belligerent is to strengthen Rumania's claim to participate in the ultimate sharing out of territory in the Balkan peninsula. For the present Rumania, it is thought, will probably content herself with occupying the strip of Bulgarian territory from Turtukai, on the Danube, to Baltchik, on the Black sea, including the city of Silistria. She has coveted this for a long time and it is believed she will accomplish her object under the prevailing condition without Bulgarian resistance.

CHILD OF 16 LURES EVEN YOUNGER GIRLS, CONFESSION STATES

corder Broyles Friday morning for conducting a disorderly place. The recorder scored the woman severely, declaring that the license of the hotel should be revoked at once. She claims to be the wife of a soldier. With her were arrested J. E. Barry and M. G. Stowers, each of whom was fined $25.75 with an alternate sentence of twenty-nine days in the stockade.

The patrolmen testified that they ere passing the hotel when they heard aughter and the clinking of glasses nd other sounds of revelry in one of the rooms above the sidewalk. Entering the hotel, they arrested the three persons named.

TWO MORE IN CUSTODY.

Further arrests made by the police Friday morning, growing out of the disclosures by Hattie Smith were those of Paul Estes and Hoyt Monroe, employes of a local garage; and of Mrs. Lola White, of 768 Marietta street, a cousin of Hattie Smith. Detective Rosser made these arrests.

New arrests were expected during the day in the Rothstein girl's case. The police planned to take the girl herself to a business house in Atlanta and seek her identification of a certain man accused by her. Officers Green and McKibben were assigned to find and arrest other men named by her.

Estes admitted his own guilt to the police, they declared, and promised to assist them in running down other men and women against whom he could testify.

The Wilson girl also confessed to the police, they said, and gave them the names of two hotes against which she could give them direct evidence of her own knowledge. She gave them also, they said, the names of half a dozen other women, and of several men whom she charges with living upon a share of the women's earnings.

The police are following every new detail and a number of additional arrests are promised.

WHOLE TRUTH COMING, SAYS CHIEF.

"It's like unravelling a ball of twine," said Chief Beavers, Friday, expressing his pleasure over the way the investigation was succeeding. The whole truth is coming to light."

The cases of the Wilson and Rothstein girls, and of Dollar and Sutton, and such other persons as are accused with them, will be tried before Recorder Broyles Saturday afternoon.

The cases against Estes and Monroe and Mrs. White, and against all others arrested in the meantime in the case of Hattie Smith, will be tried in the same court Tuesday afternoon.

AMERICANS WIN THREE SETS AT NOTTINGHAM

Maurice McLoughlin and Harold Hackett Are Victorious Over German Players

NOTTINGHAM, England, July 11.—Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, and Harold H. Hackett, of New York, by winning the doubles match against the Germans, Frederick Wilhelm Rahe and Heinrich Kleinschroth, put the United States team today into the final round of the Davis lawn tennis cup preliminaries. They won by three sets to one, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 and 8-6. They will meet the Canadian team which today beat the Belgians at Wimbledon, on July 18, 19 and 21.

Today's match was one of the prettiest and at times one of the hardest fought of the season. The Americans owed their victory largely to McLoughlin although Hackett, who was weakest in his services, showed his old-time brilliancy in volleying.

At the beginning the Germans took McLoughlin's service well. He then developed it until it was impossible to take. His drives down the line and his smashing also non-plussed the Germans although Kleinschroth returned several of them very neatly.

Kleinschroth too has a difficult service and in the early stages of the match, particularly the second set, which the Germans won, it was most effective. Later, however, he weakened somewhat and McLoughlin returned the ball out of reach of Rahe.

SENATE READY NOW TO ACT ON TARIFF; MANY CHANGES MADE

more than two weeks. Sweeping changes were made in the administrative features and the income tax. The base of exemption for incomes was changed from $4,000 to incomes over $3,000 for single persons, with $1,000 additional for married persons and $500 for each dependent child not to exceed two, a maximum exemption of $5000. Sur-tax provision for increased rates of taxation on incomes of $20,000, $50,000 and $100,000 were retained, the normal tax being left at 1 per cent. The section further was changed to exempt from tax the surplus earnings of mutual life insurance companies which revert to the benefit of policy holders.

Features of the Underwood bill designed to grant a tariff discount of 5 per cent on imports in American ships, to compel examination of books of foreign manufacturers when valuations are in dispute, to provide an extra duty on goods sold in this country at less than the foreign price and other reform features were stricken from the bill by the senate Democrats. They provided, however, for a special committee to investigate administration tariff regulations for the purpose of later revision. One of the principal changes made in committee was to put cattle and wheat on the free list, the latter with a countervailing duty.

PRINCIPAL CHANGES MADE.

Since the changes made by the finance committee the caucus still further revised the bill the principal changes being:

Cast iron pipe, transferred to free list from 15 per cent ad valorem; automobiles, a minimum rate of 15 per cent established on cars valued at $1,000 or less; machine made files cut from 25 to 20 per cent; railway wheels reduced from 25 to 15 per cent; textile machines, reduced from 25 to 20 per cent, and agricultural implements put on the free list; extracts of meat, reduced from 15 to 10 cents per pound and fluid extracts of meat from 7 to 5 cents a pound; woolen and cotton stockings, valued at les than $1.20 a dozen, 50 per cent ad valorem, and more than $1.20, 5 per cent, the division in the house bill having been 70 cents instead of $1.20; combed wool reduced from 15 to 5 per cent; woolen yarns from 20 to 15 per cent; woolen blankets, valued at less than 40 cents a pound, transfered to free list from 25 per cent; Angora goat hair tops reduced from 15 to 5 per cent; angora yarns, from 20 to 15 per cent; silk yarns from 25 to 20 per cent, gun powder and fulminating powders transferred to free list; raw furs, transferred to free list from 10 per cent; machinery, or manufacturing books for the blind, transerred to free list.

Other important changes by the senate caucus included fixing of special dates upon which some of the questions should become operative: Sugar, March 1, 1914; raw wool, December 1, 1913; woolen manufactures, December 1, 1914; income tak, to be computed from March 1, 1913, instead of January 1, 1913, as the house had provided.

DEBATE OPENS WEDNESDAY.

The committee agreed that general debate on the bill should be begun next Wednesday, but that Senator McCumber be permitted to deliver a general argument against it next Monday as he is to leave Washington that night. The majority and minority were given five days in which to file reports. Senator LaFollette will submit a separate report.

When the senate convened later the bill was formally reported by Mr. Simmons, who announced the agreement for debate in session from 12 o'clock noon until 6 p. m. It is the purpose to complete debate in five weeks.
